Danger of Split is Seen Within Cantonese Ranks; Guerillas Defy Commands

PROSPECTS FOR ORDER BETTER IN SHANGHAI

Victors Make Desperate Efforts To Restore Peace in Chief Seaport

FIFTY CHINESE WOUNDED

Marines Guarding Entrances to Foreign Settlement Have Been Reinforced

Washington, Mar. 23—Three Americans have been wounded in the fighting around Shanghai, according to a report to the navy department from Admiral C. S. Williams, commander of the Asiatic fleet.

One of the Americans was a marine. He was struck by a stray bullet and not seriously injured. The others were not identified in Admiral Williams' report.

Shanghai, Mar. 23—While the Cantonese are making desperate efforts to restore order in Shanghai, there comes the danger of a split within the ranks of the victors themselves.

The commanders of the Cantonese have issued instructions which are being defied by the guerilla sympathizers with the Cantonese cause.

General officers in charge of the Cantonese forces declare they will take action against the guerillas as soon as they have completely subdued the remnants of the Northerners now in the city.

There are some reports of brisk fighting today, but the prospects of order are far better than yesterday unless there are new incidents.

Fifty Are Killed

Fifty Chinese were killed and 110 wounded in clashes along the range-rd boundary after Guerillas had seized the north railway station, driving out the Shantungites and the adherent of Gen. Sun Chuan-Fang, it was learned this afternoon.

Northerners who retreated from Wusih and Soochow clashed with Cantonese guerillas in the Chapei district throwing that district into wildest disorder and causing the foreign authorities to reinforce the barricades around the foreign settlement and the guards.

For some hours calm had prevailed around the boundaries of the foreign settlement and the authorities took quick action to prevent a repetition of Tuesday's incidents when many Chinese were killed and wounded while trying to break into the compound.

Elsewhere sharp fighting has continued. Nationalist soldiers were reported rushing to the Chapei district to restore order and seize the Shantungites, whose surrender is expected tonight. Rain has fallen all day.

Restoring Order

A majority of the Chinese killed in the battling around north railway tation were guerillas.

Seven thousand Nationalists soldiers are massed in the native city are restoring order as best they can.

Guerillas were still in control of the Chapei district and a serious clash was feared if the regular Cantonese soldiery attempt to overtake control of the administrative machinery of the district.

British warships landed a small force to guard British property at Pootung, following a bombardment by Chinese artillery during which shells fell in the foreign settlement. The cannonading has ceased today.

Twenty-five hundred Shantungites (Northerners) who surrendered to Japanese bluejackets guarding "no man's land," will be repatriated and sent to Tsing-Tao.

Approximately 2,500 other Northerners who took refuge in the foreign settlement will be sent north.

Marines guarding the entrances to the foreign settlement have been reinforced following the clash between British marines and Chinese mobs. The Chinese carried machine guns which they turned upon the marines and the troops supporting them.

So serious did the situation become near the Chapei district, which is now occupied by Cantonese, that American marines were rushed to the scene in anticipation of an attack by Chinese mobs.

It is estimated that there are about 10,000 Cantonese troops in Shanghai together with "guerillas," who are supporting the southerners.

Part of the invading army, in entering the native city, marched along the edge of the foreign settlement, which

KENTUCKIAN FREED

Youth Serves 11 Months for "Murder" of Girl Who Turns Up Alive

Harlan, Ky., Mar. 23—Conley Dabney, young miner and taxi-driver, today returned to his home town and friends after serving eleven months of a life sentence for the "murder" of Mary Vickery, a 16-year-old Harlan girl who returned here very much alive Saturday.

Dabney was pardoned by Governor Fields yesterday.

Marie Jackson, upon whose testimony the young man was convicted was being held in jail here on a charge of perjury. She testified at his trial, the court record shows, that she saw "Dabney kill Mary Vickery with a club."

OUTLOOK FOR 1927 FARMER NOT ALLURING

Prospects Less Favorable Than in 1926, Economics Survey Shows

Washington, Mar. 23—Again at the threshold of a planting season, American agriculture today looks forward to even less alluring prospects for 1927 than greeted the general farm industry a year ago, according to a survey by the department of agriculture's bureau of economics.

"The situation is clearly such as to discourage any general expansion of agricultural production," the bureau said in summarizing the national survey. "With an average season, a continuation of relatively low returns from most cash crops is probable, unless acreage is reduced."

Billion Dollar Loss

Reviewing general marketing conditions during 1926, the report pointed out that the gross value of the principal crops, based on prices of Dec. 1, 1926, was $7,802,000,00, compared with $8,789,000,000 for the same crops the year before—a billion dollar loss sustained by the farmers.

"In consequence," the report continues, "conditions in certain important producing regions have shown no improvement within a year. The disparity between prices of farm products and the cost of industrial goods and services is greater than a year ago."

The general level of farm prices declined 12 per cent during 1926.

Acreage Plays Part

Producers of livestock, wool, dairy products and sugar will operate in generally firm markets, the bureau forecasts, but profit—or loss—in other commodities will vary with the acreage, particularly in the case of cotton.

Wheat growers "can scarcely expect to receive returns from 1927 crop similar to those which have prevailed for the 1926 crop especially if production should be materially increased."

Corn farmers "are faced with the prospect of lower prices unless acreage is substantially reduced."

Livestock Outlook Good

"A favorable year for livestock producers is in prospect. Hog prices are likely to be maintained near the 1926 level. On the whole, cattle prices are expected to continue the upward price

CADDIE FINDS $2,500 BRACELET ON COURSE

Cincinnati, Mar. 23—Russell Wagner, 12, bright-eyed and ambitious, today was anxiously awaiting whatever reward was his for finding and returning a $2,500 diamond bracelet to its owner late yesterday. Russell who recently got his "caddie's badge" at a local golf course so he could "earn a little vacation money" found the bracelet on the course. His mother recalled an advertisement in the "lost" column of a local newspaper and the jewelry was soon returned to the owner.

OPTIMISM IN EVIDENCE AS WATERS RECEDE

All Points in County Report Imminent Flood Danger Passed

LEVELS LOWER

Some Parts of Prospect Still Inundated: Marion-Green Camp-rd Submerged

Optimism was in evidence today in the various Marion County communities as it appeared certain that imminent danger of a disastrous flood had passed.

High waters of the Scioto River apparently satisfied with leaving a thick covering of sediment on streets, in cellars and in a number of instances on the first floors of dwellings were receding and at some points were once again within the river banks.

Prospect

Prospect figured in the present flood period as it did in the 1913 disaster. It was the point of the greatest damage and the highest water levels. Today's reports from there showed that danger had passed and that only a small portion of flooded section of the village was under water. Park-st submerged beneath several inches of water during the crest of the flood was today entirely drained. Some water was still standing on Water-st and N. Elm-st.

Washing out of a creek bridge on one of the Prospect streets near the school building represented the largest single instance of public property damage in the village. Damage at two schools, where water rose on the basement floors is not expected to be great. The schools will not open before next week, it was said. The lay-off necessitated this week will probably take the place of the spring vacation week.

None of the 15 families forced to leave their homes in Prospect during the flood were able to move back yet today.

LaRue, Green Camp

Continued recession of flood waters was reported this morning from LaRue and Green Camp. Reports from the latter village stated that it is believed that water at overflow points on the Marion-Green Camp-rd would be low enough by tonight or tomorrow morning for the renewal of traffic. Additional traffic delay might result when extent of damage to the road is ascertained.

Lowering of the water level at Newman's Crossing and just west of Prospect permitted the C., D. & M. to return to its original traction passenger transfer route over the Marysville-rd from Newman's to Prospect this morning. Wolfe-Gaulke bus line cars between Marion and Marysville resumed operations on schedule time today.

BODY OF DR. HOUCK'S WIFE FOUND IN CREEK

Search Started Dec. 15 for Washington Woman Brought to an End

Washington, Mar. 23—The body of Mrs. Gladys Walter Houck, wife of a Washington psychiatrist, was found today in the murky waters of Eastern Branch, a small stream near the navy yard.

Mrs. Houck had been missing since Dec. 15, following a quarrel with her husband, and a countrywide search had been conducted for her.

The husband, Dr. Knute Houck, is now being cared for by relatives in Wisconsin. A few days after his wife's disappearance, Dr. Houck was found mentally unbalanced in Hornell, N. Y.

The body apparently had been in the water for many weeks.

No marks of violence were found on it, and the police were inclined to go back to the theory of suicide, which they have held and dropped several times since the woman's strange disappearance.

Soon after the body was found, Chief of Police Hesse telegraphed the authorities at Madison, Wis., requesting that Dr. Houck, now at the university hospital there, be detained "as a suspect."

Police said Houck would be brought back to Washington for examination in connection with his wife's death. Houck was taken to Wisconsin by his mother, who also is a physician, living at Superior, Wis.

COOLIDGE BEARS DOWN ON CALLES GOVERNMENT

President Hopes to Get Concessions in Land, Patroleum Laws

EMBARGO LIFTING NEXT?

Mexico Teeming With Revolutionary Activities; May Mean End of Regime

Washington, Mar. 23 — President Coolidge has begun to "bear down" on the Calles government in Mexico in an effort to obtain by such a process what innumerable diplomatic notes have failed to get—concessions from Calles in the land and petroleum law controversy.

This was accepted interpretation here today of the state department's abrupt termination of the Mexican-American anti-smuggling treaty. The abrogation of this treaty lets down the bars to widespread and serious smuggling of arms and ammunitions along the thousand-odd mile border.

The nullification of the treaty is regarded as the first turn of "the screws" upon Calles. The second, and far more serious turn, would be the lifting of the embargo on arms. That would open wide the floodgates of arms and ammunition to the numerous enemies and revolutionary opponents of Calles. It might even spell the end of the Calles government, in the opinion of many Mexican observers here, and plunge the country once more into the maelstrom of revolution, from which Calles has partially rescued it.

See Blunt Warning

Whether the embargo is to be lifted is purely a matter of speculation in Washington today. Opinion is about evenly divided, and President Coolidge and Secretary of State Kellogg are silent about the matter. They will not even discuss it.

There is reason to believe that, despite the grave-like silence at the White House and state department, a blunt warning has already been served on Calles that if his government persists in its stubborn position in the land law controversy the embargo is scheduled to follow the treaty—the second turn of "the screws."

Confidential reports in the hands of the state department from observers in Mexico show that the country is teeming with revolutionary activities. Thus far Calles has been able to keep the situation under control because the army is well-paid and loyal, and because his enemies have been unable to get arms in sufficient quantities to start a real show. Once the embargo was lifted there would be bullets enough for everybody.

Action Condemned

Some officials here believe it will not be necessary to give a second turn to screws of pressure. The treaty termination is itself a sharp warning, and that it has not been without effect was evidenced here today by the optimistic utterances of the Mexican ambassador, Don Manuel C. Tellez.

The state department's action on the treaty was condemned by senatorial opponents of the administration's Mexican policy. Senator Borah, Republican of Idaho, characterized it as "an unfriendly gesture," and Senator Morris, Republican of Nebraska, said it was an open invitation to revolution in Mexico.

CITY SCHOOLS TO CLOSE FRIDAY FOR VACATION

St. Mary's and County Buildings To Continue Operating; Floods Cause Suspension

City schools will close next Friday for a week, to give the students and teachers the annual spring vacation. School will take up again on Monday, April 4.

St. Mary's school and county schools, with the exception of those hit by the flood, will not close for spring vacation.

Prospect High School has been closed since Monday and probably will remain closed all week. Green Camp, LaRue and Agosta schools were hit by the high water also, but are being dried out now, and will probably open today or tomorrow. Prospect schools face the possibility of having an extra week of school in May, taking the school year up till May 27, instead of closing on May 20, the usual closing date.

Two Men May Die of Injuries from Sudden Flare of Sparks

Cincinnati, Mar. 23—Two men were probably fatally burned and another painfully blistered by a sudden flare of sparks and fire in the generating plant of the Union Gas & Electric Co. here today.

Those expected to die of burns were: Joe Huber, 30, a foreman, and John Lovers, 26, electrician. George Hawkins, 35, electrician, was severely, but not seriously burned, by the sudden flareup, the cause of which was unknown. Damage to the plant was slight.

Deciding Battle Over Hill Anti-Sunday Dance Measure To Open at Hearing Tonight

Marion County Representative, Author of Bill, To Be One of Speakers; Fred E. Guthery, Charles E. Merkel and Fred B. Scherff on Opposition

The final and deciding fight to save the Hill Sunday dance bill from being cast into oblivion will be started before the senate county affairs committee in Columbus, tonight, when the proposal will be brought up for public hearing.

Although it is generally predicted that the bill is doomed to defeat in the senate, its advocates indicate that they will fight it out to the last ditch. The hearing tonight is just one step from the front line trench and will probably be followed within a few days by a vote in the Senate as a whole.

It is anticipated that an imposing force of speakers on both sides will be present for the hearing. Marion is to be represented by H. E. Hill, Marion County representative in the house who is father of the bill, as well as Fred E. Guthery, Fred B. Scherff and Charles E. Merkel. Mr. Guthery is attorney for the Crystal Lake Amusement Co. and Mr. Scherff is manager of Crystal Lake Park. They and Mr. Merkel, president of the Marion Savings Bank, are aligned with opponents of the bill.

The senate county affairs committee is headed by George H. Bender of Cleveland as chairman, who has openly expressed himself against the dance bill. A majority of the members of his committee are said to be in sympathy with his views so that an unfavorable report on the measure is regarded as certain. This, it is believed, will mean defeat of the bill when it comes to a vote in the Senate. The Ohio Manufacturers' Association also is opposing the measure. The bill, which would prohibit Sunday dances and roller skating in Ohio, passed the house by a margin of only one vote.

PRE-SCHOOL CLINIC TO START EARLY IN APRIL

County Health Commissioner N. Sifritt Laying Plans for Third Event

The third annual pre-school clinic for children who will enter county schools next September will be started by Dr. N. Sifritt, county health commissioner early in April.

These pre-school clinics afford an opportunity for parent to have their children given an expert examination before the boy or girl enters school, and also gives the county health authorities information on the physical condition of each child at the time he enters school, so that progress may be marked each succeeding year.

The first clinic will be held at Caledonia on Apr. 5, when Dr. Sifritt and Dr. John Larcomb, of Columbus, from the state health department, will examine children.

Arrangements for the clinics in each school district are already well under way. Through the students already in school the names of boys and girls who will enter school in September are obtained and the county nurse, Mrs. Edna Travis, visits the mothers and makes arrangements for the child to be brought to the school on the day of the clinic.

Between 200 and 300 children will be examined at the clinics, Dr. Sifritt estimates.

Jim Lyon, Convicted Slayer, To Be Electrocuted at Ohio Pen

Columbus, Mar. 23—The State Supreme Court today fixed April 8 as the date for the electrocution at Ohio Penitentiary of James D. Lyon, Norwalk, convicted of murdering Frank F. McGrath, American Railway Express Co. detective, at Lyon's home, near Norwalk, Feb. 18, 1926.

GUARD SENSES DANGER, JAIL BREAK FRUSTRATED

Scores of Prisoners Might Have Made Escape Had Door Been Opened

Cincinnati, Mar. 23—An extra heavy guard was on duty at the county jail here today following the frustration of an attempted jail break about midnight that nearly meant freedom for possibly scores of prisoners.

Dorsine Huffman, 25, convicted murderer, held in the hospital ward because he claimed illness, narrowly failed in the crafty plot because the last guard barring the way to freedom sensed danger and did not answer a decoy call, county officials reported today.

About midnight Guard Fred Wenger was asked by Huffman to lower a window in the hospital ward, it was said.

As Wenger opened the iron door leading into the ward, Huffman leaped from bed and with Lenar Santina, another prisoner, rushed and overpowered the guard.

The two prisoners then rushed another guard, took his revolver, and forced him to open two of the three doors that led to freedom. Threatening to kill him, the two prisoners made the guard call to William Mersman, another outer guard, to open the outside office door.

Mersman, sensing danger, called a squad of police who quickly drove the men back to their cells.

"Had Mersman opened that door the final bar to freedom for more than 400 prisoners would have been removed," police said.

Huffman was recently sentenced to life imprisonment for the murder of Conrad Spiser, Covington, Ky., actor.

COUNSEL READY TO AGREE ON RATES, REPORT

Representatives of Cities and Gas Company Notify Commission of Plans

HEARING IS HALTED

Turn in Case Seen as Victory for Marion and Other Communities

A victory for Marion and 37 other Ohio municipalities fighting rate increases sought by the Logan Gas Co. was in sight this afternoon when representatives of the cities and the gas company notified the Ohio Public Utilities Commission they were about to agree to a compromise rate.

The rate reported favored by both parties as a compromise was said to be 55 cents per 1,000 cubic feet for 1927 and 1928 and 60 cents for 1929 and 1930.

The present rate, which the company has been collecting since June, 1925, under refund bond, is 95 cents for the first 500 cubic feet or less each month from which there is no discount, then a sliding scale ranging from 48 to 63 cents, subject to a three per cent discount.

To Submit Schedule

According to the reported rate agreement, a rate schedule is to be submitted to the utilities commission for ratification, and if not satisfactory to the commission the proceedings will be reopened.

The hearing had progressed but a few minutes today with A. J. Newman, gas company comptroller on the stand for the redirect examination by J. E. Mullin, Kane, Pa., general counsel for the company, when the recess was declared.

Instrumental in bringing about the reported compromise was Assistant Attorney General Grant E. Mouser, Jr., former city solicitor for Marion, who has been leading the fight against increased rate for the last three years.

Small Users Benefited

According to the compromise rate patrons of the company who use small amount of gas will be benefited the most. Under the present rate a person consuming 5,000 cubic feet of gas each month must pay $3.11 minus three per cent for prompt settlement.

Under the compromise scale for the first two years the same amount of gas would cost the consumer $2.75.

TWO WOMEN INJURED IN MT VERNON-AV ACCIDENT

Mrs. J. A. Dodd and Mrs. George B. Knapp Sustain Cuts and Bruises

Mrs. J. A. Dodd of 367 Franklin-st, and Mrs. George B. Knapp, of Vernon Heights-blvd, were injured in a collision of a Buick sedan driven by Mrs. Dodd, and a Ford coupe, driven by E. J. Schoenlaub, which occurred in front of the Schoenlaub home, 714 Mt. Vernon-av, about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Knapp and Mrs. Dodd were seriously cut about the face by glass from the broken windshield of the sedan and they also suffered a number of body bruises.

Miss Virginia Knapp, daughter of Mrs. Knapp, and her guests, Miss Pauline Green of Amarillo, Tex., and Miss Elizabeth Hickerson of Independence, Mo., who were in the rear seat of the sedan, were not injured. Misses Green and Hickerson are classmates of Miss Knapp at Miss Mason's Castle-on-the-Hudson, a New York school.

The two machines were going east on Mt. Vernon-av, and the collision occurred when Mr. Schoenlaub turned the Ford coupe to enter the driveway at his home just as Mrs. Dodd started to pass him on the left.

In order to avoid striking the Schoenlaub car, Mrs. Dodd swerved her machine sharply to the left. The Dodd car struck the front of the Ford and then crashed into a telephone post.

The left front wheel and the steering wheel of the Buick were broken and the windshield demolished by the impact. The Ford was only slightly damaged.

RAILROADS TO SEEK BOOST IN FREIGHT TRADE

Determined Effort Will Be Made by Lines To Bring About Heavier Loading

A determined effort to bring about the heavier loading of freight cars by the shippers in this district as well as in practically all parts of the United States, is to be made during 1927, it was learned today.

Greatly encouraged with the success attending the movements of the record-breaking volume of traffic, throughout the year recently closed and confident that business will continue to expand, thus making greater demands on railroad facilities, shippers have recently made "heavier loading of freight cars" one of the salient features of this year's program.

As a test period in which to perfect their machinery, the Atlantic States Shippers advisory board has set aside the month of May to ascertain the loading performance of all cars used in the handling of common commodities.

No Damage Here

While high water in various districts along railroads operating through Marion is reported to have hindered section work no washouts of any kind were reported during the three days of perpetual rainfall in this vicinity.

All passenger trains operating through Marion on the Hocking Valley, Big Four, Erie, and Pennsylvania, the four railroads having tracks and offices in this city, were reported on time during the unfavorable weather. Many of the regular Erie and Big Four trains are said to have come in even earlier than usual.

Hocking Valley workmen still are busy constructing the repair tracks near the Garden City rd and preparing to clear the right-of-way of the Hocking entirely.

New Signal Lights

A number of railroads through the country report the erection of new signal lights or danger flashing signs at grade crossings with the advent of warmer weather. While suggestions of this nature are being given and investigated among local railroads, no action has yet been taken.

Building permits also were issued from the offices of the city clerk yesterday to Mrs. R. E. Jones of 596 Oak-st, for the construction of a front porch on a dwelling house at 272 Ballentine-av, at an estimated cost of $50 and to Carl Tozzer for remodelling his garage at 255 Clover-av, $75.

Huguenot Descent Puts One Into Select Class Nowadays

Researches Bear Fruit and Increase Membership of National Societies

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, Mar. 23—Were your ancestors Huguenots?

If so, you're one of the select.

A Huguenot came over on the Mayflower. His name was Guillaume Molines, but he changed it to Mullins. His daughter was the Priscilla who married John Alden.

This bit of history was dug up in 1924 in connection with the Huguenots' celebration of the 300th anniversary of their forefathers' first permanent settlement in America.

It set a lot of Huguenot descendants to looking back into their pedigree.

These researches are beginning to bear fruit in a surprisingly rapid increase in the membership of the National League of Huguenot Societies.

THE first Huguenot colonists—not counting William Mullins and a few earlier settlers who were wiped out in various ways—arrived from Holland in 1624, only four years after the Plymouth Rock landing, on the "Nieu Nederland," and most of them began housekeeping at Fort Orange, now Albany, N. Y.

This was the event the Huguenots celebrated in 1924 and it was then that the National League of Huguenot Societies was founded, first under the presidency-general of W. J. Schieffelin, and now of John Lenord Merrill, head of the All America Cables, and bearer of one of the oldest French names in America.

Doubtless the national league has had something to do with stimulating the Huguenot movement, but the time seems to have been about ripe for it, anyway.

WASHINGTON'S been a particularly fertile field of development, perhaps because so many old Huguenot families live in or near the capital or have been closely associated with its history—like the Bayards, the du Ponts, the Hoovers, Jardines, LeJeunes, LaFollettes, Pershings, Pinchots, Roosevelts and Summeralls, to quote just a few names.

Of late Rev. Dr. Florian Vurpillot, a real French Huguenot of today, has been holding a series of services in his own tongue at the historic old St. John's Episcopal Church, on Lafayette Square, opposite the White House, to overflowing congregations.

However, there's nothing sectional about the Huguenot appeal, and nothing exclusive.

Huguenot descent is the sole test of eligibility, and Rev. Dr. John Baer Stoudt, the league's historian-general, bears witness to the amazing extent of its range.

NEW YORK, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and South Carolina already have strong state societies, with many members in other states, from ocean to ocean and from the Gulf to Canada.

These outside states, with long lists of members and eligibles but no organizations of their own, are knocking at the doors now.

Dr. Stoudt mentions Maryland, Virginia, Ohio, Iowa, Oregon and California among the most clamorous. But that's far from a full representation, he adds. The doctor looks forward to a membership of 3,000,000.

CALVINISTS both, as the Pilgrim of Plymouth Rock was an English Puritan, so was the Huguenot Pilgrim a French Puritan, but close as their kinship was, Dr. Stoudt points out, in one respect they differed—

The New Englander couldn't make religious allowances for others.

The Huguenot, preferably of the Reformed faith could and did join some other church where none of his own was available. Today he may be an Episcopalian, a Presbyterian, a Congregationalist, a Methodist. Indeed, with the Protestant denominations, his league's appeal is almost as broad as its geographical limits.

"Most emphatically," says Dr. Stoudt "we've no idea of stirring up ecclesiastical controversies, ancient or modern. This league's purpose is commemorative simply of the great part which Huguenot and Walloon took in the development of America."

John Lenord Merrill, President-General of the National League of Huguenot Societies

COUNSEL FOR GRAY TO MAKE FIGHT FOR LIFE

District Attorney To Demand Indictments in Slaying of Art Editor

New York, Mar. 23—Counsel for Henry Judd Gray, whoe illicit love affair with Mrs. Snyder led to the killing of the woman's husband, Albert Snyder, are engaged in working out a complicated and elaborate plan of defense.

It is understood that it will be based upon three lines:

1. Gray was mentally irresponsible at the time of the act;
2. He was under the domination of Mrs. Snyder whose will as so much stronger than his that he was practically hynotized;
3. He had been imbibing of "bad booze" which impaired his faculties.

Just what defense will be presented for Mrs. Snyder is not known, but the fact that she retracted her confession and, along with Gray, pleaded not guilty at the preliminary hearing made it evident that she is going to make a strong fight for her life.

District Attorney Newcombe, of Queens County, Long Island, said he was ready to go before the grand jury today and demand an indictment for murder against both defendants.

"I plan to try them both for murder impartially without showing leniency to either one," said the district attorney."

Asked if he would demand the electric chair for both, Newcombe said that phase of the case was too far in the future for discussion.

Funeral services ere held for Snyder, who was art editor of the publication, "Motor Boating," at his home in Queens Village last night and the body was to be interred today in Mount Olivet cemetery.

Everyone wishes to be sophisticated but after he has attained that end, he mourns the loss of his earlier innocence and artlessness.

Substantial Increases In Total Resources and Deposits Shown in Ohio.

[illegible] Mar. 23—Reflecting business [illegible] Ohio communities, substantial increases in [illegible] and deposits of banks [illegible] state in 1926 were [illegible] statement issued today by E. H. Blair, state superintendent of banks today.

Figures given indicated these banks furnished ample funds for the financing of agriculture, building, industry and general commercial and economic enterprises, Blair said.

The statement, the first issued by Blair, who took office Mar. 16, follows:

Resources of the banks—734 in number—on Dec. 31, 1926, were $2,681,747,525, an increase of $62,766,334 over the amount recorded on Dec. 31, 1925. Deposits were $1,716,553,658, an increase of $51,087,577.

Gain in Savings

"While there was a decrease in individual deposits, large gains were shown in savings deposits and time certificates. Individual deposits totalled $476,686,375, a decrease of $628,090. Loans and discounts were $1,558,869,404, an increase of $43,760,805. These totals reflect the extent to which the banks met demands made upon them for funds for general business purposes during the year, such as for the promotion of building, agriculture, industry and general business enterprises of the state as a whole.

"Total capital stock of all banks reporting was $114,724,400, an increase of $739,320."

UNUSUAL SUIT WILL BE HEARD IN LOCAL COURT

Farmer Claims Horse Misrepresented; Charges Animal Has Lame Back and Hip

A case that is somewhat of a curiosity in these days when motor transportation seems to have almost eliminated horse drawn vehicles will be heard in Municipal Court on Mar. 29.

The proceeding is the result of the sale of a horse by William Hatcher of 666 E. George-st. The purchaser, Earl E. King, a farmer living in the eastern part of the county, says that Hatcher represented the animal to be sound in every respect and the fact of the matter is, so King alleges, it is "lame in the back, not sound winded and has some injury to the right rear hip of leg."

Basing his alleged grievance on this contention, King filed an affidavit against Hatcher charging him with obtaining money under false pretenses. He said that he paid $150 for the horse with the understanding that it had no defects.

Both Hatcher and King have retained attorneys and witnesses are now being subpenaed for the hearing. Hatcher posted bond of $100.

STAGE SET FOR MURDER TRIAL OF WOMAN TODAY

State's Star Witnesses Expected To Be Called in Court Session

McArthur, Mar. 23—With the stage all set today for dramatic developments in the murder trial of Arthur Stout, 33, on trial for the alleged murder of his step-mother Mrs. Sarah Stout near here last November, the state's star witnesses were expected to be called at today's court session.

A jury, consisting of 12 men, was selected and empanelled late yesterday, and half a dozen technical witnesses were called including Coroner Walter Swain, who testified that Mrs. Stout was apparently choked to death.

Mrs. Inez Palmer now facing a charge of murdering the husband of Mrs. Sarah Stout, was expected to be called to testify as to the alleged bad feeling between the defendant and the dead woman, which the state plans to show grew out of Mrs. Stout's objection to Arthur Stout living with Mrs. Palmer as his common law wife. It was shortly after Mrs. Stout had caused her stepson's arrest on a statutory charge that she was found murdered.

Witnesses called at yesterday's session described the finding of Mrs. Stout's body and its condition.

BEHIND THE SCREEN

Ken Maynard

BANG! Another Redskin bit the dust!

Remember when every western film contained at least one title similar to the one above? Indians were powerful bad and the heroes were virtuous in those days. We've grown away from the blood and thunder thrillers of ten years ago, but the west that was, still holds its place in the movies of today.

Tom Mix is the peer of the hard riding cowboys and close on his heels follow Gary Cooper, Fred Thompson, Hoot Gibson and Ken Maynard.

Maynard, one of First National's best box office attractions was a circus performer before he became an actor and he's also somewhat of an athlete.

Among his best known pictures are "Senor Dare Devil," "The Unknown Cavalier" and "The Overland Stage."

"The next hog-calling contest may find Wallace Beery an entrant. Beery learned the art as a boy on a Missouri farm and he says, "When I called a hog in those days, they stayed called!"

Buster Keaton has been making a tour of California colleges to get atmosphere for his new comedy about a small town boy who develops a mania for sports upon entering a university.

To stimulate interest in theatricals in the hope of developing new faces for the screen, the Motion Picture Directors' Association is awarding a trophy cup for the best non-professional production presented this year in the United States.

Ruddy cheeks—sparkling eyes—most women can have. Dr. F. M. Edwards for 20 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave his patients a substitute for calomel made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. Know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue headaches, a listless no-good feeling, all out of sorts inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Daily Proverb—"Jealousy is a pain which largely seeks what causes pain."

Dealers say less tobacco is being smoked, but this will hardly be news to smokers.

The way it looks now, there will be two vacant chairs when we meet at that conference table over there.

But think what a fuss these same chronic fault-finders would have made if the administration hadn't sent marines to Nicaragua.

Who knows? An insurance policy against alimony might prove the proper medicine for what's ailing the matrimonial market.

There's an old saying to the effect that every woman is a queen, but we never realized the fact to the full till the newspapers began to run outs of the almost endless line of "queens."

In the light of the assurance by Senator Fess, that no living man can defeat Mr. Coolidge, it might be good politics for Democracy to nominate Mr. McAdoo.

Senator Jim Reed denies that he is out of politics, which leaves us up a stump again to decide whether Jim is going to blame that speech onto the reporter or admit that he suffered a mental lapse.

The Cincinnati Times-Star says it is "expecting fall hats for women to appear in the shop windows almost any day." Why not? Isn't spring here?

It might interest the people of Ohio to know who is paying for the propaganda in the way of art and articles sent out from Columbus to boost the Capital City civic center idea for the improvement of the unsightly Scioto river front down there.

We haven't heard of any mail-car robbers being shot up by marines. Still, it's only fair to admit that this isn't the fault of the marines.

Despite Senator Reed's intimation, it's unthinkable that the writer of "Mr. Ford's Own Page" doesn't read at least that much of the Dearborn Independent, if for no other reason than to see that it is correctly proof-read.

As we have often remarked, this old world of ours is full of compensations, which reminds us that the barbers have found an antidote for the safety razor in the bobbed head.

Mr. Ford's attorney intimates that Mr. Ford is fighting that $1,000,000 libel suit for the principle of the thing, and, while there has been no such admission, it's not impossible that the principal involved is what moved Mr. Sapiro to bring it.

200 Miles an Hour.

Major H. O. D. Seagrave, who has brought his 1,000-horsepower, 200-miles-an-hour car over from England with the expectation of "burning up" the Florida beaches, brings out in a way which will appeal to the most of us as new the great difficulty in steering with safety a motor vehicle of the speed of which his fastest of all cars alone is capable.

With the reminder that it takes four-tenths of a second to register the impression of the eye upon the brain—we mean by this that, after the average man beholds an object, four-tenths of a second elapse before he realizes that he does—he points out that a car traveling at the rate of 200 miles an hour will travel 141 feet after its driver sees an object ahead before he realizes the fact that he has seen the object in question. In other words, the speed of the car is so much swifter than that of his brain that one driving such a car must watch his course far ahead because the car will have moved 141 feet before he realizes that he must turn to avoid a hole, or rut, or whatever obstacle may be in his course.

In the case of the Seagrave car the distance the driver looks ahead to see an obstacle must be in excess of 600 feet for the reason that the car is so constructed that the driver's range of vision is blocked by the hood of the car from the front of the car to a point 600 feet in front of it.

There is a lot of assurance to be had from Major Seagrave's figures, for it is easy to see that while the speed maniacs of the highway may go seventy, eighty or 100 miles an hour on a clear highway, they will hardly attempt anything of the kind in traffic after this knowledge of the obstacle to high speed is brought home to them as it doubtless will be by newspaper discussion of the major's exploits. And as for such a speed as 200 miles an hour upon the highways, even were cars capable of any such speed easily obtainable, that is utterly out of the question. It is fortunate for motorists, and mankind generally for that matter, that the brain acts no faster than it does, and that its slowness of speed compared to that of a 200-mile-an-hour car is an obstacle in the way of any such speed upon the highways as this car is capable of making on a straightaway speedway the surface of which is known to the driver, who is compelled by such speed to sight by bearings ahead previously picked out and memorized by him rather than by observation of the roadway. And such a method of steering would, of course, be impossible in traffic on a highway.

Who Will Pay the Added Tax?

We are ever appreciative of new light upon any matter under general discussion, and hence were pleased to come upon one in connection with the proposal to increase the gasolene tax.

Our readers are aware of the fact that the state of Ohio is facing a large deficit and that the members of the general assembly are hard put to find ways and means to raise funds to meet the situation. One source of revenue proposed and seriously considered—it has already been approved by members of the senate in caucus—is an amusement tax. Another source, and this one has been approved by the members of both houses in caucus, is an increase of a cent in the gasolene tax, making the tax three cents instead of two.

It is said that there would be no question that the latter proposal would go sailing through both houses of the general assembly were it not for the attitude of state officials and legislative agents of the automobile clubs; not that the general assembly cares particularly for the officials and agents in question, but rather because of their alleged threats to put the matter to a referendum if the general assembly perseveres in its proposal to make the gasolene tax three cents. And that's the thing which is bothering the state law-makers. A referendum would delay, if it did not make impossible the present year, the construction or improvement of the highways for the construction or improvement of which there is need of funds.

It is this situation which has caused a big tax-payer—his name is not stated in the Columbus story run—to deliver himself of a new thought upon the subject—at least, it is new to us. He says:

"Protecting the motorists is a false issue raised to enable politicians to draw fat salaries. The tax-payers are the autoists. This money must be provided. If not a gasolene tax, it would probably be some form of increased property tax and the tax-paying automobile owner would pay, but the non-property-owning automobile driver, the purchaser of high-powered used cars, would escape entirely."

We do not mean that there is anything new about raising false issues to enable politicians to draw fat salaries. That game is almost as old as the hills. But there is a slant new to us, at least, in the thought that unless the property-owning automobile driver pays the additional tax on gasolene he will probably have to pay it in some form of property tax, while the motorist who does not own other taxable property than his car, who wears out the highways as much as the man who does pay other taxes, will entirely escape the additional taxation.

No matter what may be the outcome, no matter what other arguments, either pro or con there may be, we believe that here we have a thought worthy of consideration.

The Hon. J. Thomas Heflin, of Alabama, says the thought of Governor Smith as the Democratic presidential nominee makes him sick. Isn't that man, Smith, the lucky one?

Of course, since Nevada has gone back to easy divorces, business in that line is bound to be stimulated, but the women who go to Reno for divorces will hardly get the pleasure out of bragging about it experienced by those who get theirs in Paris.

The New York legislature is probably perfectly safe in cutting $2,000,000 off the school levy to avoid a gasolene tax. The motorists will hardly complain, and it's not probable that the youngsters will rise in revolt.

It may be just as well that Senator King decided not to go to Hayti. After saying that the Haytians consider him their champion, it would have been mighty embarrassing to him to have to introduce himself and tell 'em about it.

A New Jersey youth has admitted that he has been paying his way through college by operating two stills. At present-day prices for liquid delight, it is manifest that the youth in question has been laying down on his operating job, or it's a mighty expensive college.

A writer comments on the fact that England has one comic paper, which isn't so very funny, which has managed to live for many years, while all the comic papers started in the United States, many of which were awfully funny, are dead. Possibly the explanation is that they laughed themselves to death.

Talking about revivals: there's that of the patent cigar and cigaret lighters, which are mighty handy if you remember to keep them filled and they will light.

The paragrapher of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat says everybody seems to think that the ability to think can be taught up to the age of a fourteen-year-old boy and asks: "Why the stoppage there?" Possibly because at about that age the general inclination is to assume that one knows everything worthy of thought without thinking.

Vagrant Verse.

LOVE IS A TERRIBLE THING.

I went out to the farthest meadow,
I lay down in the deepest shadow;

And I said unto the earth: "Hold me,"
And unto the night: "O enfold me,"

And unto the wind petulantly
I cried: "You know not, for you are free!"

And I begged the little leaves to lean
Low and together for a safe screen;

Then to the stars I told my tale:
"That is my home-light, there in the vale.

"And O, I know that I shall return,
But let me life first mid the unfeeling fern.

"For there is a flame that has blown too near,
And there is a name that has grown too dear,
And there is a fear . . . ."

And to the still hills and cool earth and far
sky I made moan,
"The heart in my bosom is not my own!

"O would I were free as the wind on the wing;
Love is a terrible thing!"

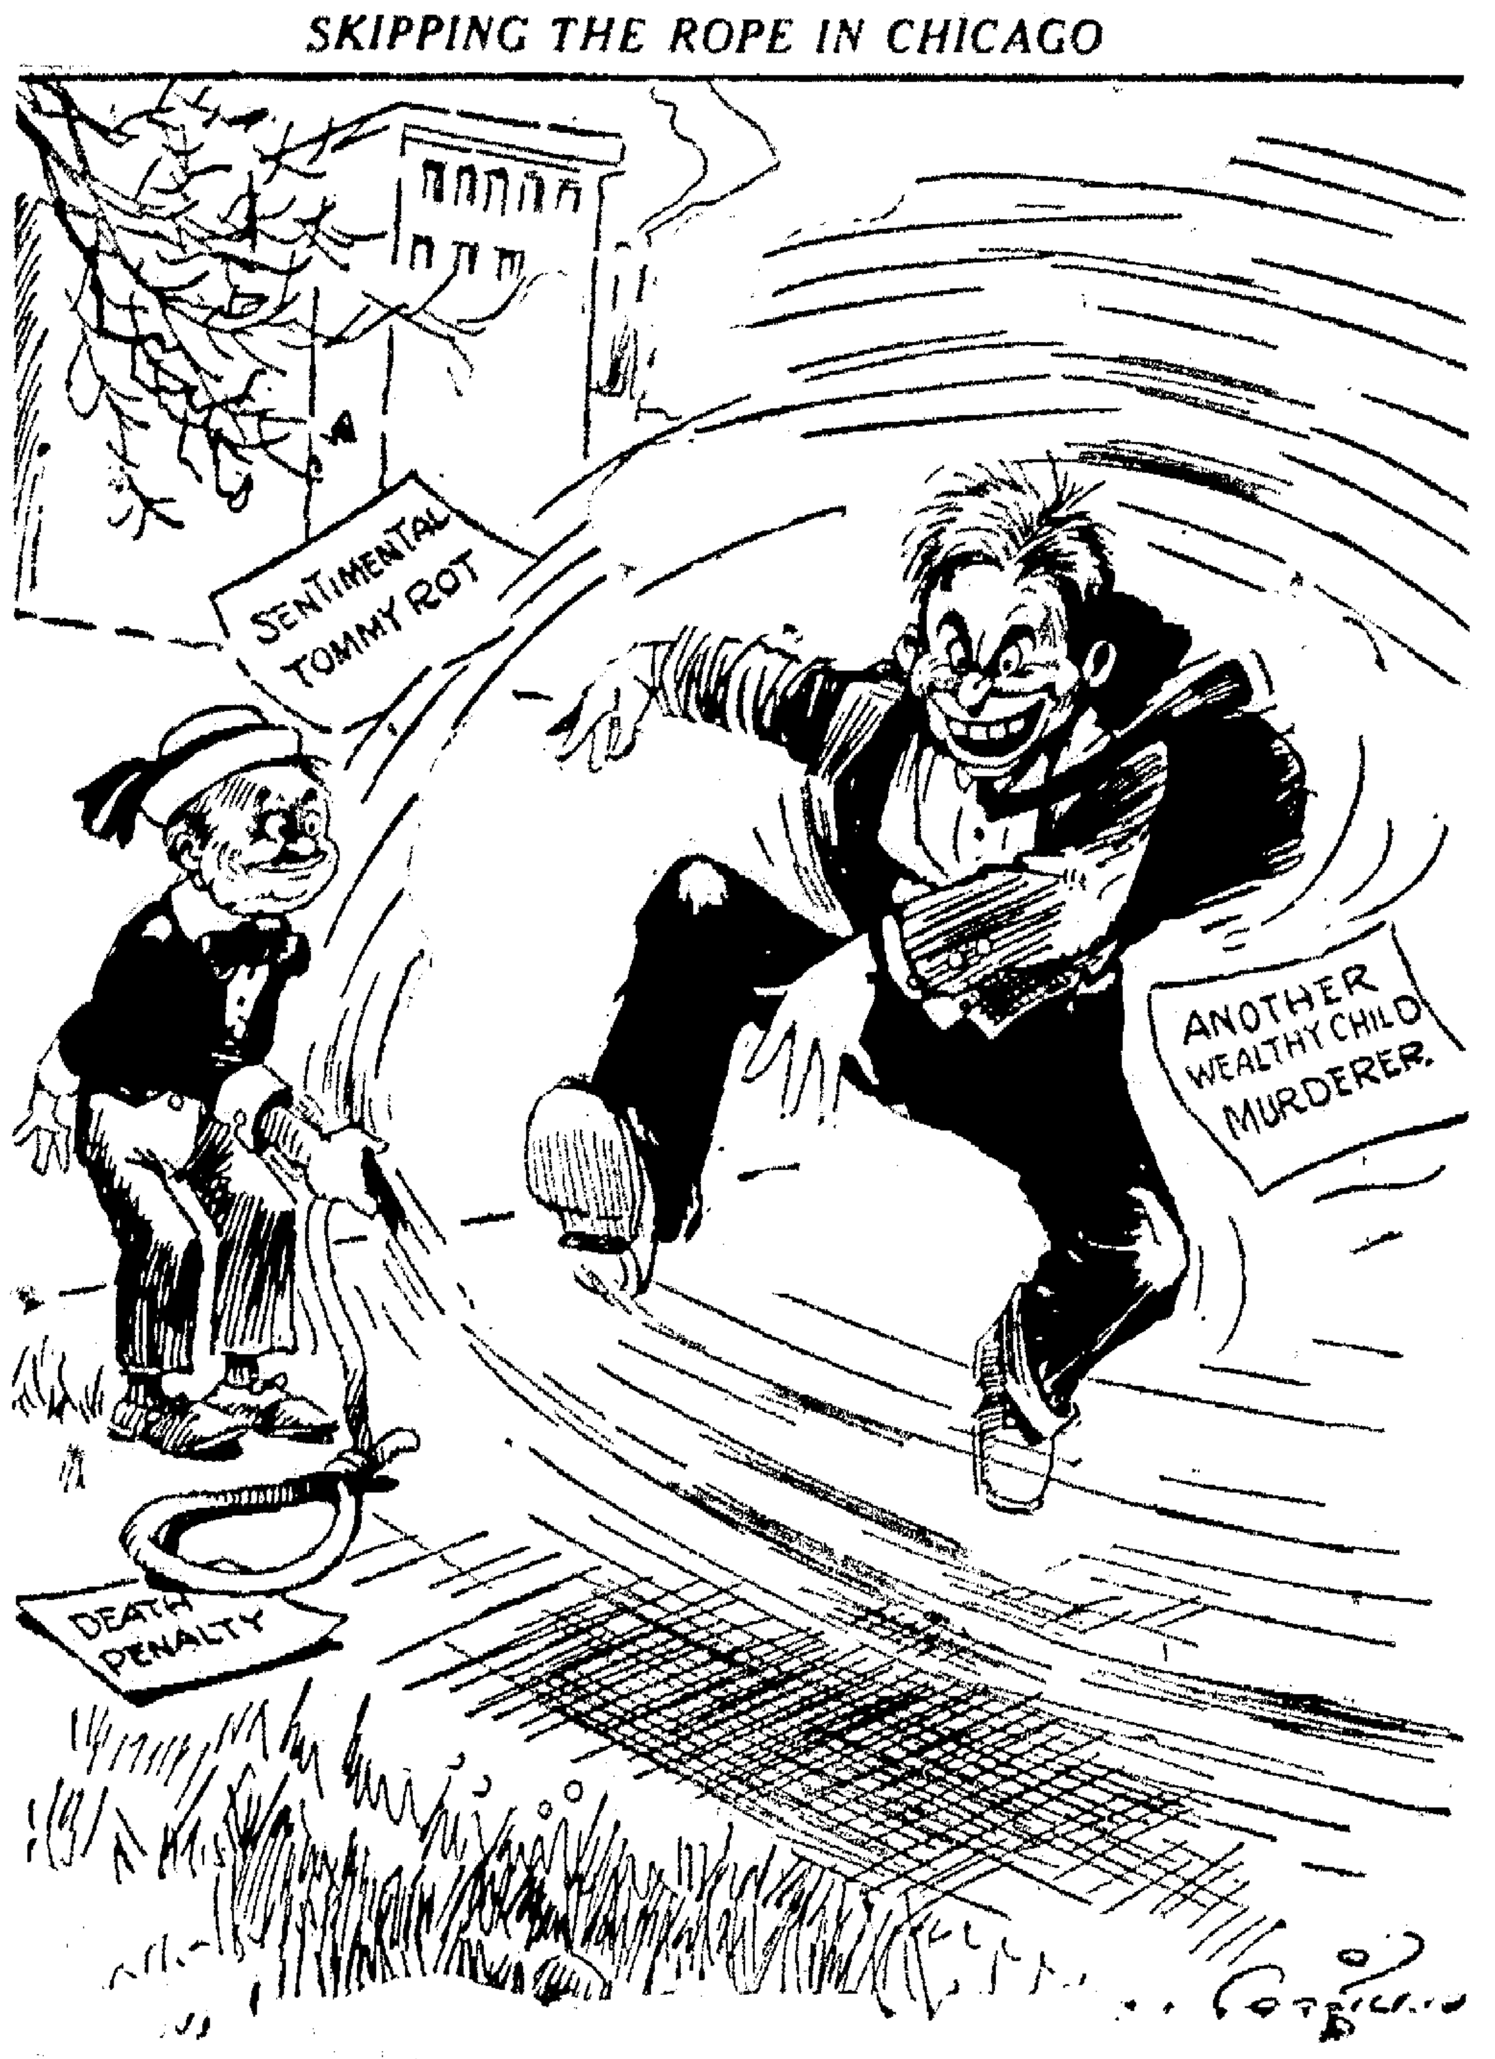
SKIPPING THE ROPE IN CHICAGO



Chewing Hard Food Helpful.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

There was a convention of dentists in Chicago not long ago. One of the delegates made a powerful attack on the eating habits of modern man. He said: "Americans are becoming a race of goats, eating out of cans like a goat."

This doctor thinks we should eat less of the prepared dishes and more of the old-fashioned foods. "Delicatessen stores are giving undertakers more jobs than all the doctors combined," he declared.

Mind you—I am giving you what was said in Chicago, not what I believe. But there is much worth reflecting upon in what the doctor said, especially this: "Soft foods make bad teeth and bad teeth mean bad health. Half of the minor and frequently the major ills of man can be traced directly or indirectly to the teeth."

When asked what foods we are neglecting, this was his reply:

"Whole wheat bread, crusty bread, raw vegetables, sorghum molasses and unsweetened butter. We ought to eat our lettuce just as it grows. Instead we cut it up first into tiny bits so that we won't have to chew it. This nation today is consuming sugar at the rate of 100 pounds a person as against thirty pounds before the Revolutionary war. That's another failing on our part—our national tooth is too sweet."

It really is a pity we do not use our teeth more for chewing hard things. It was intended that we should do so. There would be less need of having the teeth "cleaned" by the dentist if we used them to crush and cut bread crusts and other hard substances. Celery, radishes, cabbage, cucumbers, onions and other vegetables, more or less firm in fibre, should be eaten more commonly.

It is interesting to observe that many of the articles recommended by our dental friends are foods containing minerals essential to the repair and upbuilding of bones and teeth. They are foods, too, which counteract acidity and thus help protect the teeth.

Nobody can afford to neglect the dentist. His watchful care and early treatment of the teeth will do much to prevent decay and pus infection.

Bad teeth do, indeed, mean bad health. It is of the greatest concern to every person that there shall be no neglect of these vital parts. Much of the illness of middle and advanced life can be traced to bad teeth.

The Way of the World.

How often do we hear somebody say: "There ought to be a law against it." The first thing an irritated man thinks about is a new law. The usual idea of a good law is one which it pleases us to obey. A bad law is one we do not like, one which interferes with our habits or hobbies.

Before we condemn a law or call for a new one we will do well to check up on our own favorite or our own unpopular mandates. Some folks like the Volstead law and hate the law against exceeding the speed limit in an automobile.

Do you have your pets among laws? Let's all check up on ourselves before we condemn another lawbreaker.

Sell yourself to your children by your behavior—at home and abroad—and they will have more confidence in what you say to them. We can't talk about honesty to children and not prove it. We can't talk about self-control, and not have it.

Some Questions of Interest Asked and Answered.

Q. How does a man get an LL.D.? A. C. H.

A. When LL.D. is conferred upon a man it indicates that he has a profound knowledge of the laws of his profession, or that department of knowledge in which he is working. LL.D. is the oldest, highest and most valuable university degree and is conferred only on such as have made themselves very eminent by their skill, learning and original work. It is seldom conferred before the recipient is fifty years of age. LL.D. is usually conferred as an honorary degree, but Shurtleff, Chicago, and McGill propose to confer it upon the completion of required work and examinations in any of the higher departments of knowledge. LL.D. is sometimes conferred as a third degree in line with LL.B. and LL.M. with work in law schools.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. M'INTYRE.

New York, March 23 — New York has innumerable married couples who are known as "tickers." They manage to live on tick. Year after year. Their nights are spent dancing and their days recuperating. They have few morals and are without joy and have little hope.

They cling together, apparently because there is nothing else to do. And constantly live for the moment waiting for the crash. The husbands blame it on the failure of after war readjustment. The wives know it is simply laziness, but have drifted too far to rebel.

Most of them are above the average in intelligence and in receiving early advantages. They know people who are desirable customers and in steering them to this shop and that they are able to pick up a few commissions.

Often they are provided with a car in exchange for their efforts in inducing others to buy this particular make. The husbands are those who have a way of tricking friends to luncheon and without offending the slightest.

It is a polite cadgery that reduces cash to the irreducible minimum. Cigaret and tipping change is about all they seem to need. They make no effort to hide their poverty or the vicissitudes of such a catch-as-catch-can existence. They realize that in frankness lies sympathy.

Bills pour in, are torn up and tossed in the waste basket. There is no effort even to dodge the insistence of money lenders. After all what can they do? A sudden and impossible windfall is the only hope. All the finer emotions are drugged.

The wives are those who do not hesitate to ask friendly cash advances from men who pay them extra attention. It is a part of the game—despicable, but ladies must live.

Who's Who and Why.

ALBERT JOHNSON.

Albert Johnson, representative in congress from the Third district of Washington, has been chairman of the committee on immigration and naturalization in the house since 1919. He started his career as a newspaperman, and has acted in various editorial capacities on several papers, chiefly on the Pacific coast. Since 1906 he has been editor and publisher of Grays Harbor Washingtonian, at Hoquiam, Washington. Johnson was born at Springfield, Illinois, March 5, 1869.

"True," says Congressman Johnson, "we have drastically reduced the influx of foreign people. True, we have prevented the dumping of millions of Europe's excess upon our shores. But I doubt if Americans generally realize that, even with this great achievement to our credit, we still receive a net population increase by immigration of a quarter of a million souls per annum.

"The past fiscal year there entered the United States nearly half a million aliens, of whom 300,000 came intending to stay. Deducting the number of those who departed permanently, we still gained by immigration 268,351.

"It must be apparent that this annual addition to our population, small as it is in comparison with the number that certainly would have come but for the immigration act of 1924, is still too large. I am convinced that the great majority of members of the house and senate, reflecting the attitude of the thinking people of the United States, favor more and more restriction of immigration. Everywhere one hears the sentiment expressed. Many people would have the influx cut off sharply by an indefinite suspension of all immigration.

"The fears of employing interests that restriction would develop a shortage of laborers have been dissipated. Instead of a shortage of labor today we have a shortage of jobs in many industries, and grave questions are being raised in certain sections as to the future of business."

Today's Worst Story.

BY WILL ROGERS

A Chicago lawyer was showing off to the jury not long ago, going through all the usual motions about a woman that shot her husband. These Chicago prosecutors take a case like that as seriously, to all appearances, as if they was going to send the old girl up for it. Course, they know they ain't a chance to get the lady even scolded by the judge, and to say nothing about the jury. But I reckon it gets votes, or these guys wouldn't sweat so over their speeches.

"Just look at her," this prosecutor tells the jury. "She weighs near 160, and she's not afraid of anything! But how about the four husbands she's had and got rid of? In every case she picked out a meek man to marry. Why was that?"

The charming defendant raised her head and forgot the instructions she'd got from her lawyer.

"You're a liar!" she yells. "They wasn't one of 'em meek when I married 'em! I'm the guy that made 'em meek!" — Copyright, 1927.

Ford Was Warned Attacks On Sapiro Were False, It Is Revealed During Trial

Was Sent to America's First Billionaire by A. C. Cherry, General Counsel for Northwest Hay Association: Warning to Editor of Independent Also Given and Read

Federal Building, Detroit, Mar. 23—Henry Ford was sent a warning that the Dearborn Independent's attacks on Aaron Sapiro, so-called wheat king, were false, it was revealed today at the trial of the million-dollar libel suit in federal court.

The warning was written America's first billionaire by A. C. Cherry, general counsel of the Northwest Hay Association. The letter was discussed during debate over its admission as evidence, along with another warning letter sent the Dearborn Independent by Cherry.

This development came after Sapiro had participated for the first time in presenting his own case to the jury.

There was no evidence that the letter to Ford was ever read by the auto king, but the warning to the editor of the Dearborn Independent was read, having been made the subject of an investigation by the publication.

Court Refuses Letter

The court refused to admit as evidence the letter written the editor. Sapiro earlier read to the jury one of the articles published by the Dearborn Independent after it had been admitted to evidence over the objections of Ford's Counsel.

The article charged that radicals, communists and I. W. W.'s helped Sapiro organize his co-operatives in the northwest.

The letter written Ford by Cherry read:

"Mr. Henry Ford, President.
"Ford Motor Co.,
Detroit, Mich.
"Dear Sir:

"I have today written the editor of the Dearborn Independent as per carbon copy enclosed.

"In the Dearborn Independent of Aug. 23, there appears an article severely criticising the Northwest Hay Association, which contains numerous false and untrue statements—statements known to be false by practically every person in this community.

"I ask, as a matter of fairness, that you read this letter. If you will check up on these statements, you will find that the Independent has done this association a very grave and uncalled for injury.

"The Northwest Hay Association has no Jewish connections whatever and it does seem very unfair to me that this association of farmers should be subjected to such unwarranted and false attacks."

Asks For Fairness

In his other letter to the editor, Cherry closed by saying: "I am handing a copy of this letter to Mr. Henry Ford, as I am sure he would not indorse these statements any more than yourself. I do not know whether it will ever reach him, but I am sending you these communications because I do believe that you are both honest and that there is honesty in your organizations. If there is, the association will receive fair and truthful treatment: if not—well—I can't conceive that you would be anything but fair.'

Gallagher argued at length on the merits of admitting various letters informing the Dearborn Independent that Robert Morgan who was really H. H. Dunn, was a falsifier of facts.

"I believe these letters should be admitted as evidence to let the jury decide whether the Dearborn Independent used due care in seeking the truth."

Gallagher then said that anonymous letters from persons not worthy of notice, should not have been considered but communications of facts from persons of responsibility should have been investigated by the Independent to see if its correspondent was falsifying his facts.

Sapiro, youthful, sleek-haired, took up his own case because his chief counsel, William H. Gallagher, was suffering from a heavy cold. He read in even tones Ford's charges that wherever the Sapiro co-operatives were organized in the northwest, there were outbreaks of communism.

"There appears as lieutenants (of the Sapiro leaders) the radicals, the agents of the I. W. W., even open adherents of communism and bolshevism, as the strong arm men to put the works on hesitant farmers," was one of the charges.

Cameron on Stand

"The reds and racidals and communists and I. W. W. agents went out in gangs to three to eight and hammered the weak-kneed, radical or dissatisfied hay growers into joining this association" another read.

William J. Cameron, editor of the Dearborn Independent, was back on the witness stand at the time for the third straight day. He appeared bored with the proceedings.

Before Sapiro began, Gallagher called for the manuscripts of the articles published in the Independent. Cameron said a search had been made for them but he didn't know whether they had been found. Ford's attorneys said the search was unsuccessful.

Then the Sapiro attorney turned to the Ford article on which the wheat king based the tenth count of his libel suit. It concerned western hay growers.

The article first referred to a protest by "The Scribe," a Jewish paper of Portland, Ore., against the way the Independent stressed the fact that Sapiro was a Jew. Then it added: "It may be only a coincidence that the line of agricultural control in this country runs from Otto Kahn and Bernard M. Baruch down through Aaron Sapiro and lesser Jews."

Admits Whole Article

Gallagher asked to have the whole article inserted in the record "to show how inaccurate the writer of it was."

Stewart Hanley, of Ford's counsel, made his first objection of the day. The court overruled the objection but warned the jury that Sapiro could not recover damages for 'misstatements in any portion of the article other than the paragraphs cited in the declaration of libel.

"I shall admit the whole article so the jury can better understand the precise meaning of the alleged libels," said Federal Judge Fred M. Raymond.

"It will aid the jury in determining the state of mind of the writer of this article."

The court pointed out that a libel stated innocently, wouldn't justify as high an amount of damages as a one stated in malice and hatred.

Gallagher turned to his client seated at the counsel table and asked: "Mr. Sapiro, will you read this to the jury?" The wheat king nodded and for the first time, participated in presenting his own case.

When Sapiro finished reading the article, Gallagher asked Cameron where he had gotten the information for it.

"There were several sources," said the editor. "There must have been letters on it."

Gallagher then called for a letter written by H. C. Cherry, a lawyer of Yakima, Wash. Ford's attorneys produced it.

The jury was excused while counsel argued whether the letter should be introduced in evidence. Senator Reed led the protest for the Ford lawyers.

COURT RULING NOT TO AFFECT MARION COUNTY

Release of Two Men Will End Any Possible Action Here, Claim

Release of two men now in the county jail will mean the end of any possible action the recent ruling of the supreme court on Ohio justice courts might have on prisoners in the Marion County Jail, as a result of liquor violation sentences from mayor or justice courts within the county, Prosecutor Frank Wiedemann said today.

The supreme court ruling on the justice courts of Ohio does not enter into the case of either of the two men who are to be given their freedom soon, according to Prosecutor Wiedemann.

One man, Howard Thomason, will get out of jail tomorrow because his sentence is up. The other man, G. C. Marshall, is to be released because of illness, and will be given his freedom under the indigent prisoner regulations. Marshall has been ill for several months, county officials say, and he cannot be given proper care in the jail. His release will take the burden of caring for him off the county.

Thomason was sent to jail by Justice of the Peace M. O. Stoll. He was convicted of liquor violation in Stoll's court last August and has been in jail ever since. His sentence expires March 24. Marshall was convicted of possession of liquor in the court of Mayor Earl Hazen, when that official was still functioning in a judicial capacity on Dec. 6, last year. Marshall was given a fine of $500 and costs, which he could not pay, and was sent to jail, where he was taken ill and has been under the county care ever since.

These two men are the only ones in the county jail for liquor violations who would be affected by the supreme court ruling Prosecutor Wiedemann said today.

Four Marooned in Flood Three Hours Are Rescued

FOUR young men, reported to be residents of LaRue, attempted to drive two Ford roadsters through flood water on the Agosta pike west of Marion last night and were marooned more than three hours before their cries for help attracted attention and a rescue was effected. Their names are unknown to local police officers who took part in the rescue.

The young men were enroute to Marion from LaRue and in the darkness were unable to determine the depth of water which covered the roadway near the Little Scioto river, about three miles west of the city. The two machines became stalled after reaching a point where the water was up to the headlights.

Their calls for help were finally heard by another motorist who immediately telephoned to the local police station.

Captain of Police J. S. [illegible], Patrolman Harry Smith and J. E. Verity, a poultry dealer residing on Park-blvd, made two trips to the place where the four were marooned before accomplishing the rescue.

Discovering on the first trip that ropes and a motor truck would be needed to extricate the two Fords the two officers and Verity returned to the city and obtained this equipment.

After being towed out, the Fords were hauled to a point near the Marion Packing Co. plant, from where they were able to continue the trip under their own power.

"The dairy industry is on a stronger basis than a year ago. Dairymen are likely to have a moderately favorable spread between the price of feed and the price of dairy products.

"Sugar prices seem to be tending toward higher levels, with world production below that of last year and with increasing consumption. Growers in well-established sugar-beet districts, where adequate yields can be expected, will probably find it advantageous to increase acreage up to factory capacity if satisfactory contracts can be secured."

Inconvenience? Yes; But Never Pain

Menstruation is Nature — but menstrual pain is NOT natural, and not necessary. Science has conquered the painful part. In a harmless — yes, healthful — little tablet called midol.

Midol is a more remarkable means of relieving such pain than even a habit-forming drug. It acts directly on the organs affected by menstruation, and relief comes in five to seven minutes.

Don't have another day of forced quiet, of pain, low spirits or even discomfort! Midol is effective twelve hours or more. Yet it does not depress the heart, is not narcotic, and is utterly harmless. All druggists, 50 cents, in thin aluminum box that fits the smallest purse.

Quicksands of Love

BY ADELE GARRISON

Dicky Has a Nightmare

HOW long Dicky had stood at the kitchenette door where I was preparing the iced fruit drink which he always keeps at his bedside each night, I had no means of knowing. It was so unlike him thus to move stealthily through the rooms as he must have done, for my ears are sharp, that my involuntary little shriek I [illegible] at him with an impulse to move [illegible] that took all my willpower.

His face was not a pretty sight. [illegible] all the signs of rage which I knew only too well, and in addition mirrored something which I never had seen in his eyes before—an aversion, a positive loathing which made me feel as if my veins held ice-water.

But with the consciousness that I had done nothing to deserve such a look [illegible], I braced myself to stand my ground and say the thing which was most natural.

"How you startled me, Dicky! I never heard you come in."

For a tense second I thought he was not going to answer me at all. Then he said in a light, mocking tone that contrasted horribly with the dreadful look in his eyes:

"You must have a troublesome conscience, old dear. I should advise you to get rid of it. Really it's terribly hampering."

Before I could answer he had turned on his heel, throwing a curt direction over his shoulder.

"Make up a double portion of that dope. I' mextra thirsty."

There was not even a "please" in the request, and I knew by that omission how great was the displeasure swaying him, for Dicky usually is most punctilious in little social niceties. But I was too glad of a respite from one of his rages to spend any time in resenting his lack of courtesy.

I prepared the double portion of the drink for which he had asked and set it in the refrigerator. Then I went into my own room with the determination that if possible I would avoid any encounter with him until he had had a chance to sleep upon the wrath which was so patently consuming him.

It was an anger which I could not understand. I knew that Dicky was not so archaic as to feel that he must run amuck because I had gone motoring with Philip Veritzen. He had too many similar excursions of his own to remember. Yet I could think of no other possible grievance which would make his eyes look at me with the absolute loathing I had seen in them. Unless—what mischief might not Edith Fairfax have been plotting against me?

I pushed the idea away from me, for it implied the hateful corollary of Dicky's listening to malicious insinuations concerning me—and believing them. I was not yet ready to credit that of him, for I knew him to be chivalrously high-minded. But the effort of repulsing it, together with my worry over my husband's strange behavior interfered most deplorably with my work, and at last in despair of accomplishing anything, I undressed and went to bed, switching on my reading lamp and taking a magazine in the hope of reading myself to sleep.

But the lines blurred, and the type danced before my eyes, and I realized that the hands which held the magazine were trembling violently. I laid the book down and forced my muscles to quietude, but I could not induce the forgetting sleep I craved. I could hear Dicky in the living-room pacing up and down restlessly, but as that is a common custom of his when he is thinking out anything which is puzzling him, no matter how trifling, I was not sure that he was concerning himself with thoughts of me.

After a while he went into his own room, and for a long time there was silence, and I guessed that he had gone to sleep. I almost had drowsed off myself when I heard a queer sort of sound between a moan and a shout. It came again and noicelessly I got out of bed, stole to Dicky's door and set it ajar. He was having a nightmare—something he had not had in years and my first impulse was to go to him and waken him as I always had done before. Then the words he was speaking momentarily robbed me of speech or motion.

FICTION

by Clifford L. Webb and Ernest Lynn

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE:

To the home of PROF and MOLLIE ELWELL in Camdenville, Ind., one night in October of 1898, comes MARTHA DALTON, a nurse, bearing with her a woman who had fainted on the train on which Martha had been traveling.

Elwell is an artist. He has a son, JIM, aged 5. Late that night twin girls are born to the woman, who dies without revealing her identity. Her attire had indicated she was a person of refinement and wealth.

The story then moves forward to June, 1916, and the reader is introduced to Jim Elwell, now 22, and his father's partner, and to the twin girls, who have been adopted by the Elwells. They are now 17, and one of them has been named MARGARET and nicknamed RUSTY; the other, ELIZABETH, is called BETTY.

To Jim the girls are just kid pals, although they are growing to beautiful womanhood. The three go out on a hunting expedition in the woods one afternoon and Rusty, venturing ahead of them, stirs up a rattlesnake. Jim hears the ominous rattle and then the wild scream of the girl.

Now Begins the Story

CHAPTER V

LIKE a flash Jim Elwell tore in through the weeds and undergrowth, past Betty, who stood fright-stricken. He reached the other girl just in time to catch the swaying form in his arms. Picking her up as if she were no heavier than a baby, he turned and rushed back to the clearing near the first pond. Betty was already there. Jim laid the limp figure on the ground, flat on her back.

"Help me to get her shoes an' stockings off quick!" he cried. "She's been bit on the leg, prob'ly."

He tore off the low shoe from the right foot. Then catching the stocking above the knee he jerked it free from its fastenings and pulled it off. Betty, too, was working fast and a second later had the other stocking off.

"Here it is," Jim said quietly as his keen eyes caught side of two tiny punctures in the calf of Rusty's right leg. "Gimme that scarf on your head till I put a tourniquet on. We gotta stop the poison from goin' up! You take my hat, Betty, an' get some water out of the pond. Be careful not to get any of that green slime in it.

The girl was trembling like a leaf but she did as she was told. She grabbed the hat from his head and started for the pond while Elwell, doubling the scarf, slipped it under the leg just below the knee and tied it in a loose double knot. Then picking up a short stick close at hand he thrust it through the knot and wound the tourniquet tight. At that moment Betty rushed back with the water-filled hat and Jim doused a handful or two in Rusty's face. A moment later she opened her eyes.

"Don't be scared, little pal," Jim told her, with a catch in his throat. "You've been stung on the leg but we'll have you all hunky-dory in just a few minutes."

He told her to turn over on her stomach. "Grit your teeth, old bucko, and show what a dead game sport you are."

The girl did as she was told without a word. Then Jim dug into his pants pocket and drew out his knife. He opened the big blade, which was sharp as a razor, and wiped it clean on his handkerchief.

He said to Betty, "You better move over an' get hold of her head." His face was set in lines of grim purpose. She obeyed at once.

There was no hesitation in Jim's movements. This young Hoosier knew just what he had to do, and he went about it without waste of time or lost motion.

With a hand that shook just a little he cut a slit an inch long and half as deep across the two punctures in the white flesh of the calf of Rusty's leg. The outraged flesh quivered a trifle and then was still.

A quick flow of blood welled up from the cut. Jim squeezed the flesh around it and the blood ran faster. Then he drew his handkerchief, sopped it in the water and slapped its clean portion over the wound. After a minute he lifted it off, straightened his body out on the ground and placed his mouth over the cut.

For the five minutes he sucked the blood and poison from the snake-bitten leg, rinsing his mouth at intervals with water from the hat. Satisfied at length that he had done all he could in that way, he reached into his coat pocket and drew out the pistol.

"Turn over on your right side now, Rusty," he directed, "and swing your left leg over in front."

The girl obeyed, bringing the torn calf into position for Jim's purpose.

He nodded to Betty, who read the unspoken command and took firm hold of her sister's head. She was very pale.

Jim spread the cut with finger and thumb of his left hand. Then he cocked the gun and placed the muzzle at the top of the wound so the bullet would plow through the cut and into the ground. His own face was pale but his hand was as steady as a rock.

He pulled the trigger. The burn of the powder cauterized the wound. But he wasn't through yet. Pulling a pack of cigarets from a pocket, he tore some open and packed the tobacco into the cut. Then he wet the handkerchief again and tied it around the calf to hold the tobacco in place.

It was rough surgery and unscientific. Drawing the poison and blood out and tourniqueting the leg had been all right. But in burning the wound with gun powder he had outraged science and courted a worse danger—tetanus.

But Jim was no doctor. All he knew about such matters was from listening to snake bite lore from others. That he remembered all these things, and did them, was a tribute to his coolness and presence of mind.

He stood up. "Bring along her shoes, Betty, and my hat," he instructed, and then picking up his wounded pal in his arms he started up the path, followed closely by the other who, now that the greater danger was over, was fighting hard to keep down the sobs that kept coming up in her throat. Rusty lay as still as a mouse in Jim's arms, and he stopped once to look in her face, thinking she had fainted. But her eyes were open. She never said a word.

The time Jim had made with his scoot cart in getting out to the woods was improved on considerably in getting back to town, where Rusty was turned over to old Doc Palmer, now well past sixty, the same old Doc Palmer who had ushered the twins into the world on that wild October night more than seventeen years ago.

The doctor gave the snake bite his undivided attention for some fifteen minutes, frowning when he say the bits of gunpowder embedded in the girl's flesh. "Hm-m, have to watch that." But he turned to Jim with a smile. "You did just the right thing, Jim." To Rusty he said, "How do you feel now? Does it hurt pretty bad?"

It did, Rusty informed him.

"Well, if Jim had waited to get you here first you'd have had a mighty sore leg by this time and been awful sick at the tummy!"

Rusty was able to laugh, in spite of the pain in her leg, and to kiss Jim.

That evening in the Elwell home after the excitement had died down and Rusty was resting on the sofa, Jim turned to Betty with a little grin.

"Well, kiddo," he said, "we didn't shoot any farmer's calf today but—we shot a calf just the same, didn't we?"

Betty giggled and nodded her head. Rusty pouted her pretty lips. Jim's mother reproved him: "Now, Jim, it's hardly fair to tease her."

Summer's golden days flitted swiftly by in the carefree lives of Jim Elwell and the two girls. And war's black clouds rolling in from the east grew bigger and bigger as autumn approached.

October came, and with it the twins' birthday. Eighteen now and young women. Mollie and Prof sighed as they audibly lamented the swiftly rolling years, and there were times when Prof's eye was troubled as he contemplated the two glorious young things as they flew around the house in pursuit of Jim.

November's chill and the icy winds of winter came, paused a while to whisper of coming events and then moved on. And the little town of Camdenville, like the whole world, was on its toes waiting for the Senate and President Wilson to issue the call to arms.

Then a day in April came and the long-expected news was hurled to the world at last, spread across the front pages of the city sheet in eight-column screamers:

"U. S. DECLARES WAR AGAINST GERMANY"

Jim Elwell carried the paper home with him that afternoon. "I'm goin', Mollie," he told his mother. She uttered not a word of protest, but when he kissed her she clung to him fiercely for a long minute and the eyes which she turned quickly away from Jim were wet.

She had known it for some time. Jim had told Prof months before that when war was declared he was going to enlist. And the elder Elwell's heart surged with pride, albeit he shared some of his wife's misgivings.

But Rusty and Betty saw things from a younger viewpoint and a weaker philosophy of life. Joyous youth singing in their hearts shrank back appalled when the dark shadow of war struck across the threshold of their home. Patriotism, they were willing to admit, was a grand and noble attribute but when patriotism reached out its hand and collared their pal Jim, then—well, then it was a war horse of an entirely different color.

But just like millions of others, mothers, wives and sweethearts, throughout the country, these two girls had to stand back helpless and impotent when Thor's heavy hammer struck the knell of the coming death to many of their fondest hopes.

"War," Sherman is credited with having said, is "Hell!" And Sherman knew. But some of war's aftermath, its spawn, as shown in this story, was and is today the slimy serpent of a hell that the whole world does not see nor war's profiteers give a hoot about—a serpent that hides its hooded head in the aches of breaking hearts.

America was in it now, and the Elwell home was just many of hundreds of thousands that were being broken up throughout the land. Death was to be the toll exacted by the war monster—death and maimed bodies and ruined lives and wrecked hopes, and the greatest grief that had ever descended on the nation.

The next day, bright and early, Jim Elwell went downtown and enlisted. He was not the first in Camdenville; others had rushed to the recruiting office at the first news. Mollie Elwell watched from her post at the door as his stalwart figure turned down the street.

Her son! Jim!

After the "Flu" is Over ---you need a Tonic

Help Is Needed to Restore Your Wasted Strength and Energy.

"Flu" leaves the body weakened and rundown. In such cases, a tonic is clearly indicated. Restore the appetite and rid yourself of that let-down feeling.

"Flu" is a very enervating disease. It leaves its victims so weak and debilitated that there is as much danger from the after-effects as from the disease itself. In other words, after an attack of the "flu," you need a selective tonic to rebuild the system so that you may have your old-time strength and energy restored.

S. S. S. is unequalled for restoring strength and vitality.

You owe it to yourself and family to give S. S. S. a trial. It helps Nature build up red blood corpuscles. It improves the process by which the body is nourished. It is time-tried and reliable. S. S. S. is made from the roots of fresh herbs and plants, and is prepared in a scientific way in a modern laboratory.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.—Adv.

Union County Courtroom Filled for Damage Suit Trial Against Officials

Pearl Middlesworth, Washington Township Resident, Names Sheriff, Officers, Commissioners and Bondsmen in Action For $2,650 As Result of Auto Crash

Marysville, Mar. 23—The Union County Common Pleas court room was filled yesterday for the trial of Pearl Middlesworth of Washington Township against F. S. Hager, sheriff of Union County, Officers Anthony Pfarr, Edward Neibler, Frank Harger, the Union County Commissioners and the bondsmen of Sheriff Hager. The case was brought before Common Pleas Judge E. W. Porter and a jury from Champaign County.

The case concerns damages asked by Middlesworth from the defendants for alleged blockading of a public highway which he claims caused him damages to the extent of $2,650 and which he asks the court to grant him from the defendants.

Middleworth through his attorneys, Middletown, Miller & Robinson of Bellefontaine, stated to the court, that the defendants on the night the damage occurred, had blockaded the highway at a bridge on the Kenton-rd, with a Jordan wrecking car for the purpose of stopping a rum runner, who was expected to pass. The accident happened when Ivan Middlesworth, son of the defendant, came along in a Willys-Knight car and crashed into the car. Signal sto stop given by the officers are claimed by Middlesworth to have frightened his son into thinking that a highwayman was about to hold him up.

Attorney Milo L. Myers of Marysville, attorney for the defendants stated that the first of all they expected the opponents to show that Officer Anthony Pfarr was employed as a prohibition officer by Union County. He stated that young Midlesworth had at least eight feet clearance in passing the car placed by the officers and that the car had been placed at an angle with the bridge and not in the bridge as stated by Middlesworth. He said that compentent Marysville mechanics had estimated the cost of repair of the machine at about $125, when the defendants offered to settle Middleworth demanded a new car. Attorney Myers also claimed that the car had been damaged on a previous occasion.

The court failed to come to a decision in the case and it was continued until today. The members of the jury, attorneys and parties in the case viewed the spot where the accident occurred Tuesday afternoon.

BLAMES SMOKERS FOR GREATEST FIRE LOSS

National Waste Council Representative Appears Before Kenton C. of C.

Kenton, Mar. 23—Careless use by smokers of smoking materials was blamed for the greatest fire loss in the United States during the past year, by Frank L. Brigham, representative of the National Fire Waste Council, in addressing the Chamber of Commerce here yesterday.

The national fire loss from this cause alone amounted to $30,281,840, said Mr. Brigham. Lighted cigarette butts and matches carelessly thrown aside started the majority of fires.

Declaring the annual fire loss in this country appaling and far greater than in all Europe, the National representative sounded a plea for greater fire prevention efforts on the part of the individual and organizations and urged that fire prevention campaigns be sponsored by the schools, churches, civic service clubs, Boy Scouts and the homes. Annual observance of clean-up week was also pointed out as an effective means of reducing fire waste, together with careful inspections for fire hazards and the enforcement of fire prevention laws.

PLAYMATES TO CARRY BODY OF FLOOD VICTIM

Rogers Crooks, 7, To Be Buried at Kenton Thursday

Kenton, Mar. 23 — Borne by playmates, the body of Roger Crooks, 7, victim of a tragic drowning accident at Silver Creek, south of here, will be laid to rest in Grove Cemetery Thursday afternoon. Funeral services are to be held from the home of the parents, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Crooks in charge of Rev. E. E. Naragon, pastor of the First Reformed church.

While the grief-stricken mother waited in the home, scores of friends, neighbors and volunteers led by the father of the victim, found the body of the drowned youth in the still swollen waters of the creek on Tuesday, just 46 hours after the fatal plunge.

Uncle Finds Body

It was the probing hook wielded by Roy Preiffer, uncle of the boy, that first revealed the gruesome find. The body, covered with brush and mud, lay wedged beneath a log on which the victim and his two brothers had spent many happy hours fishing.

The body was borne to the home a mile distant, on a carrier fashioned from poles and ropes.

The tragic accident occured last Sunday while Roger and two older brothers were standing along the creek bank watching the flood waters. That portion of the bank on which Roger was standing suddenly gave way hurling the boy into the water. His brother, Vernon, 10, narrowly escaped death when he attempted to drag the younger boy from the stream. He was rescued by another brother, Stanley.

The mother of the lad is reported on the verge of a nervous breakdown. A physician was in attendance when the body was brought to the home.

Women's New Hygiene

Ends disposal problem — Discards like tissue

By ELLEN J. BUCKLAND
Registered Nurse

THE old-time sanitary pad has been supplanted by a new and better way called KOTEX.

✓ It ends the embarrassment of laundry and disposal. You discard Kotex as easily as tissue.

It's five times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads, and thus protects amazingly. You wear sheer gowns and gay frocks under the most trying conditions.

Also deodorizes, and thus ends all fear of offending. 8 in 10 better class women now use it. Great hospitals employ it. Doctors widely urge it.

Most stores have Kotex on counters wrapped in plain paper, ready to be picked up without even asking. Costs only a few cents for a package of 12. Be sure you get the genuine KOTEX, for only Kotex itself is "like" Kotex.

Light Damage to Corn In Marion County Will Not Lessen Work Here, Claim

Nine Township in Quarantine Area Will Be Covered as Thoroughly as in Sections Along Lake Where Greatest Menace Exists, Plan

Light damage to corn crops in this county will not modify the regulations for the prevention of further spread of the pest according to Banks Collings, who is in charge o the educational end of the campaign against the corn borer which is now on in this county.

The corn borer quarantine extends through Marion County, taking in nine townships in the northern part of the county. These townships will be covered as thoroughly as the counties along the lake where the corn borer damage has been heaviest, Collings said.

"To limit efforts at stamping out the corn borer in this section would be fatal as the elimination of this pest requires complete methods or none. If the borer is only half destroyed it will be back as strong as ever next year," Collings explained. "Last year in Ohio the number of borers increased more than 400 per cent in the heavily infested areas.

"If the attempt to stamp out the borer in Marion County was limited this year, and the borers increased 400 per cent it would mean material damage to the corn crop in 1927. Another increase of 400 per cent next year would mean that the corn crop of Marion County in 1928 would be practically valueless.

No Distinction

"A lot of folks," Collings said today, "think that because there is a light infestation of borers in this section that the control measures will not apply here as rigidly as in other areas. To my knowledge there has been no distinction made as to any difference in regulations throughout any portion of the quarantine area.

"The nine townships in Marion County, under quarantine Salt Rock, Grand, Grand Prairie, Scott, Tully, Montgomery, Big Island, Claridon and Marion will be subject to the control regulations issued by Charles V. Truax director of agriculture to the same degree as any other township or county in the 42 named counties in Ohio."

In brief the control measures Collings speaks of mean complete disposition of all corn stalks or parts of corn stalks in fields in these nine townships prior to May 1. Disposition of the corn stalks may be through burning which may be just enough to char the stalk and kill the borers, or through plowing.

Clean Plowing

"Clean plowing," Collings said, "is also approval, or using government operated stubble pulverizers in destroying the stubble in fields where the corn has been cut over two or three inches high.

"These regulations will not only apply to stalks and stubble remaining in the field, but also to unshredded fodder fed out in the pasture or feed lot.

"Discing in of oats without first thoroughly cleaning off the stalks cannot possibly pass inspection."

Handsome banners will be awarded the winners in each group. A beautiful silver plate statue of Victory will go to the county champion and a statue of Triumph, also in silver plate, will go to second place winner.

Beautiful Teeth

Are very easily stained Magnesia removes that stain

There is always a coating on your teeth, called plaque. It clings and stays. Fruits, coffee, tobacco, etc., stain that plaque, just as they stain napkins. That is why teeth grow dingy.

Phillips' Dental Magnesia tooth paste removes that plaque in the quickest and best way known. Then those cloudy teeth will glisten. The prompt results will amaze and delight you.

But Phillips' Dental Magnesia does far more. Acid is the cause of tooth decay. It is formed between the teeth and in crevices by fermentation of sugar and starch. It is the greatest enemy of the teeth and gums.

Phillips' Dental Magnesia tooth paste penetrates those crevices. It neutralizes acids instantly. It contains Phillips' Milk of Magnesia—a powerful alkali—in concentrated form. Dentists have recommended it for 50 years to make mouth acids harmless.

Here is the greatest tooth paste men have yet created. It does all things needed in the most efficient way. You should learn how much it means to you, and find that out at once. You will never again go to sleep at night without this matchless tooth protection. Go prove this now.

Always Merry and Bright

When You Get That "Kruschen" Feeling

Grandpa is a good humored old scout and—

Nothing in this world is more infectious than good humour.

A cheerful disposition is a more powerful factor than most people imagine.

The cheerful one is always welcome, radiating optimism and compelling others to look on the bright side of things.

Cheerfulness, high spirits, a happy outlook, and a hearty appetite are the daily reward of those who take 2 tablets of Kruschen Salts in their breakfast cup of tea or coffee every morning.

And Why?

The reason is that Kruschen Salts remove all impurities from the system and stimulate the healthy flow of the natural juices of the body. Kruschen Salts contain an adequate amount of Sodium and Magnesium, the cathartics or body scavengers; and they possess a rich proportion of Potassium, the vital tonic food of the tissues. You can get this combination in no other way. The six ingredients of Kruschen Salts keep you feeling fit and fine. They are necessary for healthy life. Your body must of necessity obtain these ingredients from somewhere, or you could not live. Normally your system should extract these vital salts from your food, but when, owing to impaired digestion, errors of diet, overwork, anxiety, worry, sedentary occupation, and many other causes, your system does not extract from your food the correct proportion of these essential live-giving salts, then what follows? Depression or headaches, constipation or disordered liver, inactive kidneys, rheumatism, gout or sciatica, lumbago or eczema—many of which arise from excess of Uric Acid, which is the cause of more troubles than many people suspect.

Kruschen Salts should be your safeguard.

JOHNNY MYERS STILL CHAMP DESPITE DEFEAT

Chicago, Mar. 23—Although Lou Talaber, former middleweight wrestling champion, won his match with Champion Johnny Myers here last night, the latter was still the title holder today. The affair had been billed as a championship match, but Talaber entered the arena overweight and instead of winning the title, he draws a $300 fine and probably will be suspended by the Illinois Athletic Commission. Talaber was awarded the referee's decision after the match dragged the two-hour limit.

Harding Juniors of '26 and East Side Aces are Strongest in Class "A"

Lion Tamers Also Threaten in Senior Division; Epworth and Harding Hi-Y No. 2 Are Chief Contenders in Class B Division

BY EDDIE SCHOENLEB
Sports Editor, The Star,

AS the Agosta Lunas take the upper floor of the Y. M. C. A. at 7 o'clock tonight against the Marion Business College basketeers for the first Class A contest of the second annual Marion County amateur basketball tourney, the Vocational Preps will stack up against the Harding Hi-Y No. 2 aggregation on the lower court in the initial game of the Class B division.

Two other Class A games will be played in the first round tonight while Class B teams will take part in three other contests. In Class A, Hubers will play the Kappa Alpha Phis at 7:45, and the Juniors of '26 will meet Pleasant Independents at 8:30 o'clock. In Class B, Epworth and Central Hi-Y quintets clash at 7:45, Junior Midgets and St. Paul's Episcopals at 8:30, and Midgets and Central Junior High cagers at 9:15 o'clock.

The second round in each division will begin at 7 o'clock, Friday night. All Class A games will take place on the upper floor while all Class B battles will be waged on the lower court at the Y. M. C. A. The semi-finals are set for next Wednesday night and finals next Friday, April 1. Class C semi-finals will be played Saturday afternoon and finals will take place next Friday night, April 1.

Juniors Look Good

The Harding Juniors, of '26, winners of the Class A tourney last year at the Y. M. C. A. and the East Side Aces are favorites in the Class A division this year.

The Juniors have one of the strongest lineups entered in their division, and, although pitted against some of the best amateur quintets in the county, should make a great showing. They must play Pleasant Township Independents in the first round and then meet the winner of the Huber-Kappa game if they survive. That will take them into the semi-finals, probably with Howitzer Co.

The Junior lineup consists of Ben Gilmore, who played center for Harding High at times this year, and was one of the eight men taken to the Delaware tournament with the school team; Willey, a Harding High reserve this season; Gillis, the tow-headed forward who broke into action with the Harding crew on many occasions this season; Ralph Lewis, one of the best basket shots in the city; Joe Drake, well-known in athletic circles, and "Chuck" Noyes.

Aces Going Hot

The Aces have been going hot this season and will have their regular lineup with the addition of Hughie Shultz, all-Central district back guard of Harding High. Hughie has played with the Aces on many occasions and will be an added strength to the team during the tourney. Ed Fisher, Gambol, Thorley Sargent, Bob Peadon, Jimmy Lingo, and Bob Yazel complete the lineup.

Should each of these favorites go through, they will meet in the finals. The Aces have only two games to play before entering the finals, having drawn a bye in the first round. They must meet the K. of C. quintet in the second and probably the Martel Lion Tamers in the semi-finals.

Class B

The fight for supremacy in the Class B division will likely dwindle down to a clash between the Epworth M. E. cagers and Harding Hi-Y No. 2 outfit in the semi-finals, with the winner of that game taking the tournament in the finals.

Epworth M. E. should win the tournament. "Chuck" Evans, and Orville Garrett, Harding High forwards this season, will play the forward positions on that outfit. Bud Cram, reserve Harding High guard, will hold down one of the guard positions. Their chief opponents will be the Harding Hi-Y No. 2 aggregation. Joe Rinnert plays center on that team and Cline, one of the fastest and most accurate basketball players in Marion, will be at one forward.

Should each of the teams win their first two games, they will meet in the semi-finals. It is probable that Central Junior High will land in the finals with either Epworth or the Hi-Y.

Little is known concerning the strength of the Class C teams and we have heard no predictions of the outcome of that section of the tourney.

FOUR-CORNERED TIE IN SIX-DAY BIKE RACE

Chicago, Mar. 23—Spectators today milled about the rim of the wooden saucer waiting for the jam or dash that would break the four cornered tie existing for first position in Chicago's fifteenth international six day bike spin.

The American team, composed of Charley Winter and Freddie Spencer had been riding away the night in a tie with Franco Georgetti and Carl Stockholm, the American-Italian combination, until Koeckler and Merkner, the Chicago team lapped the first and crossed into the first sector with the leaders.

INDIANS LOSE TRIS SPEAKER ONLY

The filling of Tris Speaker's shoes at centerfield is the only real problem Manager Jack McCallister of the Cleveland Indians has, but it's enough. By shifting the available material around, however, the gap has been filled, at least until an experienced man has been landed. Jamieson is slated for left, Summa will be in center, and Fred Eichroot and Pat McNulty will alternate in the right garden. Gerkin will be used as utility. The outfield quintet is shown above.

Cleveland Club Remains Intact With Exception of Manager and Outfielder

Jack McCallister Fills Managerial Position and Shift in Outfield May Take Care of Center Garden; Prospects Are Good, Says Walsh

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

LAKELAND, Fla., Mar. 23—The football rules committee moved the goal posts back ten yards and nobody knows what the general effect will be, wherein the committee differs ever so slightly from the Cleveland Indians, who moved their perennial centerfield and Whilom manager out of his uniform and out of their ball park, leaving the populace in some doubt as to whether a mistake was not made in either case or both.

Anyhow, the Indians are precisely the same club that finished second in the American League last year, except that Tris Speaker, their manager and leading outfielder these many years, is absolutely no more. And somehow the Indians without Speaker must seem like a pea without its knife.

The fact of the matter is that the Indians presented the Senators with what presumably was a first class outfielder and received nothing in return.

The managerial void prompted by the gentleman's departure probably will prove to be less poignant particularly with a form fitting leader like Jack McAllister available. Jack has been around the ball club so long that the boys come to look forward to him like grapefruit in the eye at breakfast.

In Speaker's place, there has sprung several bright young men who are willing to do anything, even die for dear old Rutgers. Among them are Homer Summa, rightfielder by environment and Pat McNulty, who has been threatening to go somewhere for years but always forgets to start. Fred Eichrodt, up with the club before, and Ike Woeber, from Dallas, also are doing the best they can. George Gerkin, another second-year Indian, is in camp and may stick. However, it is probable that the regular outfield will be made up of Charley Jamieson, McNulty and Summa.

Outfield Intact

The 1926 infield is intact, or will be. George Burns, voted the league's most valuable player, will be the first baseman, although I understand this information is not exclusive. Fred Spurgeon will be the second baseman as soon as he makes an adjustment of the carburetor, made necessary by an appendicitis complex.

Joe Sewell, one of the ranking shortstops, hasn't got around to furnishing visual proof of the matter because he has to favor a sore arm. However, Rube Lutzke is playing third base without his wheelchair, thereby furnishing a camp innovation.

One of the best of the young infielders is Johnny Hodapp, once a big number from Indianapolis but now one of the boys in Cleveland. John broke a careless leg in Cleveland last year and never has been the same. Another youth of promise is Jack Burnett of the University of Florida.

Lem Fonseca, formerly the Phillies, improved so rapidly last year that he finally was sold to Newark and now is with the Indians. This young man always could hit.

The catchers, Luke Sewell, Martin Autry and Glenn Myatt, remain unchanged between seasons, meaning that the catching will be more than adequate. One "Kid" McRae also is with the outfit.

The pitchers also will remain as is. Briefly, the list includes George Uhle who won some twenty-seven ball games last year. Emil Levison, a great first-year man, Joe Shaute another consistent winner, Garland Buckeye, Sherry Smith, who pitches an excellent game to first base, and Lefty Miller. Two good young ones are Willis Hudlin, from Texas League, and Earl Collard, of Evansville, Ind., right handers both. Benny Karr, the inevitable, also is with the team but hasn't exactly given a sound reason for it.

This club is a certain contender, with its pitching hitting and infield defense. In fact, even with Speaker gone, it may be that Cleveland fans will get a chance to have McCallisteries on or about the first of October.

Six more games remain to be rolled in the league. The Comps have won 11 and lost seven. Linos and Eds are tied for second place with 10 victories and eight defeats. Stereos are in last position with only seven wins.

MANY GOLF CELEBRITIES IN SOUTHERN MEET

Bobby Jones, Walter Hagen, Jess Sweetser, Cruickshank and Others Enter

Atlanta, Ga., Mar. 23—To give a general idea of the layout for the $12,500 southern open championship, under way at the East Lake course, today, cast an optic or two over the lineup for the stellar best ball pro-amateur foresome, which features the preliminary negotiations.

In it are the British open champion, the U. S. open champion, the runner up in the U. S. amateur championship, the British amateur champion, the P. G. A. champion, the Los Angeles open champion, the Texas open champion and the leading money winner of the flock of winter tournaments, of which this is the big shot.

The British open champion, American open champion, and the runner up in the national amateur, is just one person and that one, Bobby Jones, Atlanta's favorite golfing son.

The British amateur champion, of course is Jess Sweetser, and every one knows that the P. G. A. champion is Walter Hagen. The fourth man, who has just about swept the tournament field this winter, is "Wee" Bobby Cruikshank. He will be paired with Sweetser, Jones and Hagen playing together.

FOUR GIRLS' GAMES

Wichita, Kans., Mar. 23—Four games will be played tonight in the first round of the national high school girls' basketball tournament. Four of the teams drew byes for the first round. First round pairings are as follows: Elm Creek, Neb., vs. Caldwell, Kans.; Sharon, Pa., vs. Lawton, Okla.; Buhl, Idaho, vs Cockrill, Kans.

RICKARD INTERFERES

New York, Mar. 23—Although Humbert Fugazy declares that Pete Latzo, welterweight champion, and Joe Dundee of Baltimore, will sign articles here on Friday for a 15-round bout at the polo grounds on May 24, it appeared today that Fugazy's plans may be spiked by his rival promoter, Tex Rickard. The latter says he has already signed Dundee to fight Latzo and will not release him from the agreement. The boxing commission probably will attempt to clear up the muddle.

SNYDER LEADER IN INDUSTRIAL LOOP

There has been some argument over just who is leading the Industrial Bowling League as the season closes. In the statistics compiled by Ed Meredith, manager of the Y. M. C. A. bowling alleys, a few days ago and published in these columns, Norris of the Steam Shovels was reported at the head in individual averages for the season. Norris had 181, it was said.

Now we are informed that Snyder of the Shovels is the leader, with 181.3 pins average for the season. Snyder, in the other average, carried a record of 179 for the season. Norris' exact standing is 180.9, according to Meredith.

It develops that Snyder passed Norris in the postponed match bowled against the C. D. & M. and not counted in Meredith's averages at the end of the season. Norris didn't bowl in the postponed games and Snyder's good scores put him in the lead for the season by the margin of four-tenths of a pin.

TO PLAY THIRD ROUND IN NETBALL TONIGHT

Business Mens Games on Y. M. C. A. Floors Prior to Cage Tourney

The third round of the Business Men's Volleyball League will be played off tonight on the Y. M. C. A. courts.

Coulter's team will meet the outfit captained by Cunningham at 5:15 on the upper floor and Hildebrandt will clash with Clark at 5:45 on the same court. Brown's team will play Murphy's volleyballers at 5:30 on the lower court.

LAST NIGHT'S FIGHTS

At Seattle—Charlie Belanger, Winnipeg, defeated Jack Roper, Los Angeles, 6 rounds.

Then she told him she meant how did he learn that he could throw his voice, and he said he didn't ever find it out. She told him to stay after school and maybe he would find out a number of things. It is lots of fun going home from school and leaving that crook there.

Daily Bedtime Story

BY HOWARD GARIS

Uncle Wiggily and His Friends

Uncle Wiggily had found flowers under the snow, a spring offering to the Lady Teacher, and though Whoopie, rabbit boy had a willow whis- one of the new season, was far from warm in Wood- where the rabbit gentleman lived hollow stump bungalow.

it froze last night!" cried Wiggily one cold morning a few after the first of spring, as he the banister railing to get carrot mush Nurse Jane had for him.

"We'll have skating again if this up!" said Mr. Longears, pass- turnip pancakes to the forty little bunny boys and girls who eating their breakfast before hop- to school.

won't last long, if it does freeze, goodness!" exclaimed Mr. Long- who thought he had seen enough of winter.

froze icicles on the edge of the roof—look!" said Tooter, another little boy. He pointed to the lower edge of the bungalow roof, which could be seen from the breakfast room window. Dangling from the eaves were a number of long, sharp, glittering spears of frozen water, called icicles.

"Ha! Icicles!" cried Uncle Wiggily, peering out. "I hope none of them fall on my pink nose when I go adventuring. I must be careful!"

But by the time he was ready to hop away, and the bunny children had gone to school, all the icicles but one had melted.

This last icicle, the largest and sharpest of all, hung from the edge of the roof in a shady place where the warm sun could not melt it as quickly as it melted the other spears of ice.

"I must be careful that last icicle so that it doesn't fall on me when I come back from my adventures," thought Uncle Wiggily. So away he hopped over the fields and through the woods. And, as he hopped, he had such a funny idea it made him laugh. It was the sight of the Bob Cat, with his silly little tail, that made the bunny

"There goes the Bob Cat," said Uncle Wiggily to himself. "He hasn't seen me here in the woods. I'll play a trick on him. I'll go to his den, now that he is out, and I'll leave word that I have been there. When the Bob Cat finds I have called on him, while he was out hunting for me, he'll be so angry he'll try to bite his own tail! Ha! Ha!"

No sooner said than done. Uncle Wiggily, making sure the Bob Cat was not in his den, hopped into the home of the Bad Chap and on a piece of white birch bark wrote this note:

"Dear Bobbie! I'm sorry I missed you. I called but you were not at home! See you later!"

This note the bunny stuck over the Bob Cat's fireplace and then Uncle Wiggily hopped back home, laughing to himself as he thought of the joke he had played. Meanwhile the Bob Cat looked all over for the rabbit but could not find him. Snapping and snarling, the Bad Chap went back to his den. The first thing he saw was the note.

"Ha! So Uncle Wiggily has been here, has he?" mewed the Bob Cat. "He'll see me later, will he! Well, I'll see him sooner! I'll go to his bungalow now and get him. That will be a joke for me!"

Once more no sooner said than done. Off to the bungalow ran the Bob Cat, reaching it just as Uncle Wiggily was going up the front steps.

"Now, I've got you!" snarled the Bad Chap. He made a jump for the bunny, but just then the last icicle, which had by this time become melted and loosened by the sun that moved around to shine on it—the last icicle fell down and the sharp point stuck in the Bob Cat's back.

"Oh, scowzie wow! Oh, trolley cars!" howled the Bad Chap. "Ouch!" and tucking his silly little tail as well as he could between his legs, the Bob Cat turned and ran back to his den, thinking the Police Dog was after him.

"Well," chuckled Uncle Wiggily, as he hopped into his bungalow. "It is a good thing that last icicle was saved for the Bob Cat!" And if the rag doll's shoe doesn't hide in the rubber boot so the roller skate can't play with it, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the fox fire.

AUTO CLUB RECEIVES MANY QUERIES ON FLOOD

Motorists Seek Information on Conditions of Highways Throughout County

The office of the Marion Auto Club has served as the local clearing house during the last few days for information regarding road blockades resulting from the flood situation.

Mrs. D. V. Gallagher, secretary of the club, stated this morning that she and her assistants have been kept busy continuously answering calls from motorists planning trips not only in this locality but to distant points.

In order to have the latest information on regarding the flood situation available, Mrs. Gallagher is keeping in close touch with state headquarters. Three special messages were received from there yesterday apprising the local offices of roads being closed or opened as changes developed in the inundated districts.

The situation in the southern part of the state, between Circleville and Portsmouth is the most serious, the entire section of the Scioto Trail between those points being shut off.

MANY WOMEN ATTEND EPWORTH M. E. REVIVAL

Delegations from All Church Organizations Represented at Evangelistic Services

Delegations from all the women's organizations of Epworth M. E. Church were in attendance at the revival service last night at the church. Rev. Myron E. Taylor of Upland, Ind., spoke on the subject, "Man Goes to His Own Place," a follow-up on Sunday's sermons on the subjects, "Heaven" and "Hell."

"Our tastes must be changed if we are to enjoy the things that go with holiness and heaven," the evangelist said. "We come into the world with degenerate tastes, for we are all born with the taint of sin upon our souls, and we feed those tastes until we have little, if any, appreciation of the things that go with the heavenly state."

Gilbert Otteson, who accompanies the evangelist and directs the choir, sang a vocal solo, "Yielded to God." Miss Maye Evangeline Lawrence playing organ accompaniment and William Dowler, piano.

Delegations from the high schools as well as from Epworth classes are expected to attend the evangelistic service tonight, which will be observed as "yuong people's night." Reverend Taylor will preach on the subject, "A Notable Victory."

STOCK MARKET STILL REMAINS REACTIONARY

Extremely Favorable Reports Have No Effect on Price List

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

Railroad stocks reactionary, industrial stocks reactionary, domestic bonds irregular, foreign bonds firm, call money 4½ per cent, grain irregular, copper firm, oil weak, cotton steady, rubber steady, sugar irregular, pig iron steady, foreign exchange steady.

New York, Mar. 23—Neither the extremely favorable reports of increased freight car loadings nor the further expansion of the steel trade, were able to stir up sufficient buying of industrial stocks to pull the market out of its reactionary rut today and, after a feeble rally in the first period, the whole list declined to a lower level of prices.

Professional selling of the motor, industrial and specialty stocks in the forenoon carried a wide range of speculative favorites to the lowest range of prices for the currnet move and in some cases opened up wide gaps in market values as compared with last week's peak. Savage attacks on Hudson Motors, Baldwin Locomotive, General Motors and other well known shares added a few points to yesterday's severe losses.

As a rule, however, the industrial stocks found much better support than they did on either Monday or Tuesday. Shortly after the noon period the whole market lapsed into a period of inactivity, as though liquidation and forced selling at the low ranges had been completed, and the next move was uncertain. The motor stocks were shaken roughly to the accompaniment of price cuts and the possible gobbling up of the small companies by the larger ones, and the oil stocks were compelled to give further ground as the result of the fear of price cuts and the fear of demoralization in the producing fields.

COFFEE OPENS STEADY

New York, Mar. 23—The coffee futures market opened fairly steady today. Initial prices were at net losses of 6 to 10 points. March opened at 14.00, down 10; and May 13.08, down 06.

Ohio Marks Time as Miners, Operators Fight It Out

TO CLOSE MINES APR. 1 PENDING NEGOTIATIONS

Has Chance for Lower Wages If Pennsylvania's Union Break Is Successful

Columbus, Mar. 23—Ohio is sitting on the fence while the miners' union and soft coal operators fight it out.

Ohio bituminous operators said today they will close down their union mines April 1 to await the outcome of the fight in Pennsylvania between non-union coal operators and the United Mine Workers. Ohio can do nothing else because it is locked as in a vise between the low cost coal production to the east and south and the higher cost production of union mines to the west.

West Virginia and Kentucky competition has hit Ohio harder than any other state. Ohio operators say they have made no money since 1924 under the Jacksonville wage agreement.

Problems of Ohio and Pennsylvania are almost identical so far as competition is concerned, but there is no general disposition among Ohio operators to run non-union if they can obtain a wage reduction from the union.

Willing To Suspend

Ohio, therefore, is willing to suspend for many months to see if the union can be forced, or persuaded to grant a competitive wage scale based upon the non-union pay. Ohio is a cradle of unionism and it would require almost superhuman efforts to loosen the mine workers' grip.

If the Pittsburgh Coal Co. succeeds in driving the union from western Pennsylvania, Ohio operators believe they will be in a position to dictate terms of a new wage agreement. On the other hand, if the union wins, Ohio operators will be no worse off than at present because the union is demanding only a renewal of the existing wage contract.

Danger, however, to Ohio is that it may lose permanently to West Virginia and Kentucky its rich markets, if the suspension this year is a long one. Ohio production has fallen off between 25 and 30 per cent since 1923.

"We must close down our mines or get a wage readjustment," said W. H. Haskins, secretary-treasurer of the Ohio Operators' Association. "We cannot exist longer under the present arrangement."

Since 1898, when joint bargaining was established between the union and the operators, Haskins said production has increased as follows:

Ohio, 100 per cent; Indiana, 265 per cent; Illinois, 272 per cent; West Virginia, 715 per cent; Kentucky, 1530 per cent.

Recent Interference

In this period, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois have been solidly union while in late years West Virginia and Kentucky have operated open shop. In other words, development in union fields has lagged far behind growth in non-union fields.

Haskins said two-thirds of the coal being mined in the United States now is non-union.

Ohio operators resent the interference of the government in dictating terms of settlement of the 1919 and the 1922 strikes. They assert the government each time has favored the union.

Haskins asserted that John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, "has never negotiated a wage contract."

95% to Strike

"Each time the government has stepped in and made a settlement for him," said Haskins. "Because it was an election year, the government coerced the operators in 1922. We were called to Washington and told to sign on the dotted line. That won't be done this year."

There are 40,000 miners in Ohio. Both sides agree that at least 95 per cent of the men will go out.

Some of the mines which supply public utilities exclusively are anxious to renew the present agreement. Lewis may permit them to run.

The union is making plans to prevent an exodus of Ohio miners to West Virginia after April 1.

TO INTERVIEW CONVICT IN SEARCH FOR BANDITS

Frank Nowaczek Is Described by Weckowski as One of Gang

Jackson, Mich., Mar. 23 — Frank Nowaczek, 25, who has just begun a 10-to-20-year sentence for robbery was to be interviewed today by Detective John Geisler of Allegheny, Pa., who seeks to round up all the bandits participating in the $104,000 payroll robbery near Pittsburgh Mar. 10.

Nowaczek was described by Joseph Weckowski, on whose farm near Pittsburgh part of the loot was found, as one of the men who used to hang around his place. Weckowski recognized Nowaczek's picture in the rogue gallery.

Nowaczek is said to be wanted in Pittsburgh for a $57,000 mine payroll holdup a year ago.

According to Geisler, Nowaczek is a member of the gang responsible for the recent $104,000 payroll robbery although he did not participate in it.

Nowaczek was sentenced for taking part in the holdup of the Patzer Food Product Company's payroll Feb. 5.

FINDS WAY TO AVOID MUSCLE-LAMENESS

Athlete has simple method of keeping in perfect form

Athletes and trainers know how painful and disabling muscle-lameness can be. And they, more than almost anyone else, can tell you the best way to overcome it.

"In my training work as an athlete," writes Frank B. Conover, of 175 South St., Jersey City, N. J., "I have used Sloan's Liniment for the past five years and found it most effective for soreness caused by vigorous exercise. Also an incomparable remedy for stiff neck."

It is marvelous how ache and stiffness in lame muscles yield to the magic of Sloan's. Just a little patted on lightly and healing new blood tingles through the hurt place.

Away go "fatigue-poisons." Sore muscles limber up and stop aching. Get a bottle today and have it on hand. All druggists—35 cents.

TAX SOLUTION KEY IS SOUGHT BY CONFERENCE

Joint Committee Sees Need for $14,000,000 in Next 18 Months

Columbus, Mar. 23—In joint conference here today, the 20 members of the senate and house special committees continued their efforts to agree upon a program of taxation measures which would increase the state's revenues approximately $14,000,000 during the 18 months' period beginning July 1, next.

During a joint session held late Tuesday, these committees, it was announced, agreed upon the plan to have the present Ohio legislature increase state excise and corporation franchise taxes so as to provide for an increased revenue of about $5,000,000 a year.

The problem confronting these conferees this morning was to decide upon legislation designed to provide about $9,000,000 more during the fiscal period beginning July 1, next.

Proposals Considered

The conferees had under consideration proposals that the solons pass laws providing for amusement taxes, cigaret tax, a mortgage tax, a poolroom tax, or provide for a general property tax in the form of a direct levy of 1-4 of a mill.

During the session late Tuesday, the conferees, it was said, tentatively decided that, exclusive of additional highway construction plans, state revenues must approximate $59,500,000 during the 18-months' period begining July 1, next. Present laws, they agreed, will yield $45,500,000. The additional $14,000,000 to be obtained, it wa sestimated, will wipe out the $13,000 deficit expected to exist in the state treasury June 30, next.

Possibility of an increase in the state gasoline tax from two to three cents per gallon loomed today as the method for providing funds for highway construction.
